PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y MAY. 8 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE weekly transfers of real property is greatly on the increase.

CHEAP COAL, just railroad rates, more foreign markets and decided favoritism in taxing the plants of our manufacturers will do more towards the recovery of our lost commerce than all other influences combined.

The building record for the present year in Philadelphia—barring, of course, any financial or business disturbance not anticipated at the present time—will certainly eclipse that of any previous year in the history of the city. The improvements consist mainly of two and three-story dwellings, this class of houses will, in all probability, largely exceed the product of last year, in fact, unless there is a decided change of sentiment, there will be very few large structures erected this year. Many architects claim that they have considerable heavy work on hand, most of which is held in abeyance owing to various causes, among them the present depressed condition of mercantile business, and the uncertainty of the proposed prohibition amendment. That the latter is already exercising a stagnating influence there can be no doubt, and that its adoption will cause a still greater depression will be readily conceded by all, except those who are entirely blinded for sentiments sake only.

Capital, looking for investment, is arbitrary and exacting as to safety, the sentiment involved has nothing whatever to do with the investment of money. Chances are taken, and will continue to be taken, of course, but capitalists, as a rule, are not apt to invest large sums in business structures or business enterprises with the possibilities and probabilities arrayed against them on the start.

That great business disturbances will surely follow the inauguration of the dry era in this State, any one with average business instinct can see; it may only be temporary, but it will practically tie up so much invested capital that it must prove serious. The sentiment of the question has no place in the consideration of its business influence, for if the prohibition amendment would save the soul of every sinner in the State, it would still have a most depressing influence on business, and prosperity in business is the stimulating force which impels building operations.

THE amount of real property transferred weekly in this city is simply astonishing, and although the value of these weekly transfers hardly amounts to two round millions of dollars on an average, yet they frequently represent considerable over that amount; as an instance of this fact, we quote from our summary of the week, five days only, ending Saturday last, the figures showing 355 transfers, amounting to $2,123,391.90, against 425 transfers, representing $1,859,720.89 for the previous week. These figures certainly do not confirm the statement that the real estate business is "extremely dull," and notwithstanding the magnificent sums represented, they do not in either case include the sales of property at auction, which for the week ending on the 4th instant, amounted to $149,942.50, while the auction sales for the previous week were a trifle more, as they were $154,708.32. These heavy weekly transfers, if they can be taken as a basis for a proper estimate, and they are the only true data on which an estimate can be based, certainly show that real estate buyers are neither surfeited with property nor have they lost confidence in real property as an investment. So long as this feeling lasts, and we can see no reason for a change for some time to come, the assertion that we are over-building is not a logical deduction. Building will be and should be pushed just so long as there are buyers for houses on conservative terms. Subsequent results should not be considered in the sale of real estate any more than in a merchandise transaction. The merchant in the transaction of his business does not stop to consider the wisdom expressed on the part of the purchaser, so long as he secures the payment of the purchase money he does not hesitate to sell, nor can the builder be expected to transact his business on any other basis. The time may come when those who load themselves with property heavily mortgaged, may find it difficult to pay interest owing to poor rentals, but nothing short of a business crisis with all its attending evils can precipitate such conclusions, the temper of our people is to improve their home influences, and it is only the severest pressure, such as an absolute failure to find employment, that can possibly induce them to change pleasant homes for a mere tenement.

OUR thanks are due to Mr. William H. Sayward, Secretary of the National Association of Builders, 164 Devonshire street, Boston, Mass., for a copy of the official report of the third annual convention, which was held in this city, on February 12th, 13th and 14th, 1889. The report, which covers with appendix, 210 pages, is complete in every particular, and invaluable to any one interested in the subjects discussed during the convention, many of which were reported in these columns while the convention was in session.

NOTICE TO ARCHITECTS.

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 371 of the Laws of 1887, entitled, "An act to provide for the erection of a building for Criminal Courts and other purposes in the City of New York," the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund will receive plans, specifications and estimates of cost, until the 24th day of June 1889, for the building provided for in the said Act, to be erected on the block bounded by Centre and Elm and White and Franklin streets.

The plans, estimates and specifications to be submitted are described in a paper entitled, "Instructions to Architects," which can be obtained on application at the Comptroller's Office. Real Estate Exchange News.

105 has two frame dwellings, at Newto, Pa., $3,100.

Wanted—Small house with conveniences, central, about $3,500 to $4,000.

The Exchange has for sale the Jefferson tannery property, 183 feet on Sixth street, 472 feet on Jefferson street and 203 feet on Randolph street. The buildings are eleven dwellings and one large four-story factory. The Exchange is now open for the sale of real estate on its own account. This will not work any detriment to the brokers, who will receive half commission should they consummate the sale. The plan was formed in order to benefit the Exchange and give them business which otherwise would be lost.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.
Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS—A, being a member of and director of a certain building association, holding stock in the first series thereof, became a borrower from the association upon a bond and mortgage to the full matured value of his stock. Upon information furnished by N., secretary of the association, at a meeting of the directors, the first series was declared matured, and satisfaction was entered upon the mortgage of A. Subsequently it was discovered that the Secretary N., had been defrauding the association for many years, and the first stock of the series in stead of being full paid and worth $200, was only worth $50.47. The association became insolvent and made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. The assignee filed a bill in equity against A. on the ground of mistake to have the satisfaction of his mortgage stricken off and an account stated between him and the association. The Court entered a decree in accordance with the prayer of the bill. Held that the entry of satisfaction was not conclusive, and that the decree of the court was correct.—Callahan's appeal, January 23, 1889.

DEED—Courses and distances in a deed always give way to the boundaries found upon the ground or supplied by proof of their former existence, when the marks or monuments are gone.—Morse & Rollins, May 3, 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT—A leased a certain premises from B. the agent of C. the owner of the premises, for a certain term, each party having the right to give thirty days notice of his intention to terminate the lease at the end of said term. A having remained upon the premises after the expiration of the term, received from B. a three months notice to quit at the end of his year. Not complying with his notice, proceedings were begun against him before a justice of the peace by B. under the act of December 14, 1863 (P. L. 1864, Ap. 1125), and a warrant of possession was awarded. A. appealed and claimed that subsequently to the notice to quit, C. at the request of A, authorized him to remain.

Held, that from the evidence a promise on the part of A. to pay rent for the extended term might be implied, and that the agreement on part of C. was not a nudum pactum but amounted to a valid defence on the part of A.—Supple v. Timothy, Feb 12, 1889.

LIENS—An appeal does not lie from the striking off of a lien, a writ of error is the appropriate remedy. A lien filed for the removal of a nuisance must aver that notice was given to the registered owner of the property before the municipality performed the work. In default of such averment the lien is fatally defective. Notice to the reputed owner is not sufficient.

In Philadelphia the object of the Registry Act is two-fold, (a), to enable the city to designate the true owner of property with reasonable certainty, and (b), to provide for actual notice to such owner of municipal claims affecting his property.—City of Phila. v. Dungan, January 14, 1889.

PARTNERSHIP—M. and E. entered into a partnership for the term of five years. The articles of co-partnership provided that the capital was to be $5,000, all of which was to be contributed by M. against which E. was to contribute his skill and labor. Each was to receive half the profit and share the losses, but E., in consideration of his services was to receive the sum of $1,000 per annum, payable monthly, which was to be considered a portion of the profits and to be deducted from his share, the balance, if any, to be placed to his credit on the books of the firm at the end of each year until the amount so credited to him should equal the capital contributed by M. At the end of one year and nine months the capital was lost, and the partnership dissolved by proceedings in equity. E. drew from time to time his monthly allowance. No profits were made, M. having brought suit against E. to recover one-half of the capital contributed by him. Held, that he was entitled to recover.—Emeric v. Moir, February 4, 1889.

All of the above cases can be found in 23 W. N. C.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 S. Third street.

SUPERVISING ARCHITECT JAMES H. WINDRIM is starting out in a manner calculated to insure well constructed federal buildings, judging from his action in the case of the building at Williamsport this State. The contractors, it is reported, have been notified to tear down the portions of the building which do not comply with the plans and specifications. This order will necessitate some sweeping changes and entail considerable financial loss to the contractors, besides retarding the work about six months; the government, however, will not lose anything, and this example may serve to convince cuture contractors that they must comply with the plans and specifications.

Architects and others had better correspond with the following lot buyers, as many of them contemplate building.

A WALK around the City Hall cannot fail to impress upon an observing mind the truth of the assertion that the Americans are a nation of spitters, or at least many of them. Of course that is a right none dares or cares to dispute, but it does strike a contemporary that a more suitable place might be selected than the pavement which surrounds the costly pile at Broad and Market streets. If the fiend would kindly confine himself to the outer edge of the sidewalk, or even the centre, a long suffering public might view his enormities with a lenient eye, but his favorite rendezvous is the iron railings at the corners of the building, where, reclining at his ease, he surrounds himself with expectorations disgusting to every one whom business or pleasure causes to pass that way, and likewise a disgrace to the city that will allow such flagrant disregard of the laws for the protection of public property.

THIS old town of ours may be slow, as others see us from a business stand point, but the hearts of its people respond with a pulsation so quick, that an appeal for help is hardly uttered before practical steps are taken to meet the emergency. The scenes witnessed in this city on Sunday last will not soon be forgotten. There was no time lost in empty sentiment, almost every man and woman's sorrow expressed a practical meaning—a meaning that conveyed food and warmth and comfort and plenty of good cheer to the poor souls who had been so suddenly bereft of home and loved ones. There is certainly no Philadelphian, whether he be native born, or a citizen by adoption, who does not feel prouder, happier, better, for this whole-soul outpouring of our people's generous help to the Johnstown sufferers; and no people ever gave so cheerfully, for the rich and the poor alike helped to fill the wagons on Sunday, and many a poor man's dollar helped to fill Sam Wanamaker's glass jar on Chestnut street on Monday.

If sorrow and misery can be allayed by the generous offerings of a truly generous people, then much has already been done, and to the heavy stricken it may seem a consolation to know that the love and sympathy of our people are none the less because not heralded with empty mouthings. We say, God bless the dear old town.

Lovegrove & Co., No. 143 North Third street, dealers in general machinery, place before our patrons a new and advantageous steam heater, automatic in its action, and said to possess more than ordinary power in distributing heat economy, is another merit, and these combined should command investigation.

BICKNELL'S ADVERTISING BUREAU, No. 113 Broadway, N. Y., has just issued a new and very complete special list of papers particularly devoted to architecture, building, real estate, decorations, manufacturing, engineering, etc. This list contains the best and most representative papers of the kind, and covers a wide range of territory.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.

A cursory examination even of the history of events, reveals the fact that there is a constant tendency on the part of humanity to ameliorate its condition. Year after year, "progress, man's distinctive mark alone" leaves its impress on civilization in a gradual improvement of man's environment, and the means by which he accomplishes certain results. This is noticeable in improved and more efficient business methods, in the invention of labor saving machinery by which, without detriment to the general good, results have been obtained which would have been otherwise impossible, and in various other ways well known to every intelligent observer. But perhaps in no case is this improvement more noticeable than in that made in what might be termed the department of practical science, in other words the application of scientifically obtained facts and laws in one or more departments, to some practical end. In fact, every department of life and trade has felt the impulse given it by some one who has patiently worked and thought and studied to bring some favorite idea to a practical and successful conclusion. Among the many inventions patented for the benefit of mankind there is none possessing more interest to the world at large, and even to each individual, than those relating to artificial stone as a substitute for the materials once universally used for paving and building purposes of various kinds. As a member of the municipal government each citizen is interested that the city in which he lives is properly paved with a material best calculated to stand the wear and tear of the ceaseless tide of traffic which ebbs and flows through its streets day after day. This interest is not only applicable to streets, but also to bridges, wharves, docks and in fact to every thing which contributes in any way to augment the volume of business of a large city; again as a householder it goes without saying that he should be interested that the sidewalks about his home are of the best kind, and that the cellar is paved with a material calculated to keep his home in a dry and healthy condition. In fact of such importance is this subject in all its bearings, particularly in the matter of street paving, that in many large cities Councils have passed ordinances in favor of well-known artificial pavements and prohibited the further use of brick to which the average Philadelphian clings with such tenacity. Stone of various kinds while possessing many advantages that cannot be gainsaid, is too expensive to be generally used; this arises from various causes, among which is the twofold expense of quarrying and transportation, two items that never appear in connection with artificial stone, besides while possessing all the advantages to which stone can possibly lay claim, the latter is superior in having many others peculiar to itself and it may be safely said that in no one thing has there been a greater improvement than in this matter of a substitute for stone; the truth of this assertion can be verified any day by a walk through Philadelphia over thousands of square feet of well laid Granolithic and other substitutes in places where brick once reigned supreme.

Science, coupled with indefatigable energy, has brought this material to such perfection that it enters now into the construction of buildings—particularly those designed to be fire proof—in a manner, at one time, deemed impossible; and where once wood and stone were used for sills, lintels, steps, floors, and a host of other things, the composition is now used with the happiest results. Among the few good substitutes found in our city may be mentioned the Jenkins' Patent Metalithic for pavements, walks, drives, bridges, wharves, docks, reservoirs, cellar, basement and kitchen floors, swimming baths and building purposes generally, being applicable in every instance where stone of any kind is now used, especially in paving and flooring. The Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society, in its display of artificial stone in 1888, attested the excellence of this manufacture by awarding it the only premium and diploma for a block of Metalithic one foot cube, which sustained unaffected, a pressure of one hundred and fifty tons. This material while possessing every advantage which goes to make up the sum total of an ideal pavement, is particularly pre-eminent as absolutely free from expansion and contraction, the twin enemies of artificial stone in every form, atmospheric conditions having no apparent effect upon it whatever. This is accomplished by means of a continuous galvanized iron chain which is laid around the inner portion of each block, about two inches from the edge, and held in place by spikes driven at all angles, thus practically making expansion and contraction impossible. In addition to this, the strength of the compound—which is used in connection with the binders—consists largely in the introduction of intermediate bodies forming a concrete mastic, and by this means the whole block is made compact and solid, so that it presents a hard wearing surface composed substantially of solid rock, which being to all intents and purposes impervious, the process of absorption is reduced to a minimum. In the city of Philadelphia alone, thousands of square feet of Metalithic pavement have been laid during the past five years, and in every instance it has given such universal satisfaction, that, although it has been customary to give a guarantee warranting it to wear for five or ten years, it is said that in no case has it yet been necessary to make good any such warrants.

The patentee, Warner H. Jenkins is a hydraulic engineer by profession and has devoted the greater portion of his time to scientific experiments and enterprises, his latest and most brilliant achievement being the invention and perfecting of Metalithic paving material for which a patent was issued on November 29th, 1887. Subsequently Mr. Jenkins assigned one half of his interest to H. Victor Gause, and these two gentlemen now have the entire control of the patent with headquarters at the Drexel Building, Philadelphia. A number of prominent places are controlled by this patent, among which are Wheeling, West Virginia, Altoona and Pittsburg, Pa., Wilmington, Delaware, New York City, Baltimore, Md., the State of New Jersey, Richmond, Va., Utica, N. Y., Cincinnati, Ohio, Philadelphia and a number of other places.

THERE is a great increase in the consumption of African teak wood in the east. Wherever a surface of iron or steel comes in direct contact with one of the wood this material is invaluable. It contains an oil which prevents iron from rusting. It is easily worked, but wears tools away rapidly on account of the quantity of silex.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JUNE 19, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE present approaches to Fairmount Park are a disgrace to the city; they are entirely too restricted for either comfort or convenience. What we need is a grand Boulevard, as suggested by Mr. C. K. Landis, the founder of Vineland and Sea Isle City. Mr. Landis' scheme embraces the opening of an avenue 150 feet wide, starting at the northwest corner of the Public Buildings, and extending to the Park reservoir, near the Callowhill Street Bridge, the distance being just one mile. The idea was first suggested on April 29th, 1884, and to many the proposition seemed Utopian, but since then many converts to the scheme have been made, and it may, ultimately, be adopted by Councils. There is nothing appalling in the proposition, for the benefit to a large section through which such an avenue would pass would more than compensate, in the increased value of property, the cost of construction, and the assessments for benefits would more than equal the damages for property taken.

PHILADELPHIA now possesses 172 carpet manufacturing establishments, employing 17,800 workmen, 71,500,000 yards of carpet were produced last year worth nearly $48,000,000.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.
Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

AGREEMENT TO SELL REAL ESTATE.—In an action to recover damages for a breach of a written agreement to convey land where the plaintiff has not paid the purchase money and there is no evidence to show that the land is worth more than the sum agreed to be paid, the plaintiff can recover only nominal damages.—Henershotz v. Gallagher, Jan'y 9, 1889.

BANKS.—When a Bank receives a check from one of its depositors for collection, it must return either the check or the money; so if the collecting bank surrenders the check to the Bank upon which it was drawn, and accepts a cashier's check or other obligation in lieu thereof, its liability to its depositor is fixed as much as if it had received the cash. The collecting Bank has no right, unless specially authorized, to accept anything in lieu of money.—Bank v. Ashworth, Oct. 23, 1888.

LEASE.—Where goods levied upon by the Sheriff are purchased at private sale from the defendant in the execution by a party who pays the amounts due on the execution writs, and gives the defendant full consideration and then leases the property to the defendant, who carries on the business in his own name, they will not be subject to execution against the lessee at the suit of a creditor whose claim originated after the sale and lease.

A sale of personal property not accompanied by a delivery, while a legal fraud as to persons standing in a position to be defrauded by it, yet as to parties and other persons it may be valid if it is free from fraud in fact.—Dilman v. Raule, Jan'y 11, 1889.

MORTGAGE.—Where the grantee of certain lots, under a conveyance in which the lots are described as bounded by certain streets laid out on the city plan but unoccupied, and containing the following recital: "Together as respects each of the said lots of ground above granted and released with its full proportion of the soil of the street or streets, avenue or avenues, on which it is situated," mortgages the said lots but does not insert the above recital in the mortgage, a purchaser at Sheriff's sale under said mortgage takes whatever title passed by the original deed. The omission in the mortgage of the language above quoted has no significance. The streets and ways were appurtenant to the lots conveyed, and as between grantor and grantee, mortgagee and mortgagee, passed by a conveyance of the lots bounding upon them.—Patterson v. Harlan Jan'y 17, 1889.

PARTNERSHIP.—Where a partner has made a settlement with former creditors by paying his portion of the debt due, and received a release under the Act of March 22d, 1862, he is no longer liable to his copartners for any sums that may be paid by them to such creditors in settlement of the debts of the partnership.—Shamberg v. Abbott, April 23, 1889.

We have been requested by the Superintendent of Census to insert the following:

Department of the Interior, CENSUS OFFICE,

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1, 1889.

To the Medical Profession.—The various medical associations and the medical profession will be glad to learn that Dr. John S. Billings, Surgeon U. S. Army, has consented to take charge of the Report on the Mortality and Vital Statistics of the United States as returned by the Eleventh Census.

As the United States has no system of registration of vital statistics, such as is relied upon by other civilized nations for the purpose of ascertaining the actual movement of population, our census affords the only opportunity of obtaining near an approximate estimate of the birth and death rates of much the larger part of the country, which is entirely unprovided with any satisfactory system of State and municipal registration.

In view of this, the Census Office, during the month of May this year, has issued to the medical profession throughout the country "Physician's Registers" for the purpose of obtaining more accurate returns of deaths than is possible for the enumerators to make. It is earnestly hoped that physicians in every part of the country will co-operate with the Census Office in this important work. The record should be kept from June 1, 1889, to May 31, 1890. Nearly 26,000 of these registration books were filled up and returned to the office in 1880, and nearly all of them used for statistical purposes. It is hoped that double this number will be obtained for the Eleventh Census.

Physicians not receiving Registers can obtain them by sending their names and addresses to the Census Office, and, with the Register, an official envelope which requires no stamp will be provided for their return to Washington.

If all medical and surgical practitioners throughout the country will lend their aid, the mortality and vital statistics of the Eleventh Census will be more comprehensive and complete than they have ever been. Every physician should take a personal pride in having this report as full and accurate as it is possible to make it.

It is hereby promised that all information obtained through this source shall be held strictly confidential.

ROBERT P. PORTER,
Superintendent of Census.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JUNE 26, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

BUILDING PERMITS show a considerable falling off in numbers this week, owing more to the usual summer lull than to any alarm on the part of builders. There is a strong feeling of continued prosperity notwithstanding the croakings of a few unfortunates who made costly mistakes in their selection of locations. It is all nonsense to suppose that houses will either sell at fancy figures or in bad locations, for the self same influences that control the selling qualities of other things also affect the sale of houses. Of course, sales can often be affected at ruinous prices on the same general principle that refuse stock of any kind can be sold for some price, but such sales are neither indicative of overproduction nor business depression. The man who locates wisely and who builds well, has, we believe, nothing to fear for some time to come, provided, of course, his prices are fixed on a reasonable margin for profits.

BEFORE Councils adjourn for the summer, something should be done for the two hundred girls who have been denied admission to the Girls' Normal School because of its limited accommodations. This will necessitate a large number of girls either to give up the idea of becoming teachers, for which they have been studying for years, or go back and waste a year of valuable time in the hope that they may have better luck next time. To raise the average from 60 to 72 for the purpose of reducing the number of applicants for admission, is after all a questionable proceeding in the face of the well-known fact that many of the worst and most studious pupils never do themselves justice in a written examination. Chairman Gratz's suggestion that Councils give the lot at Thirtieth and Spring Garden streets, and erect a building to cost $150,000, is a good one, and should be acted upon.

Miscellaneous.

At Lowell, Middlesex Co., Mass., the City Council has authorized a loan of $40,000 to erect a new school house in the 5th ward.

At Bridgeport, Conn., the new Y. M. C. A. building has been contracted for, the price is $63,000.

At Bay City, Bay Co., Michigan, the congregation of the Presbyterian Church will erect a $50,000 edifice.

At Cold Water, Branch Co., Michigan, a State Public School will be erected. The Legislature has appropriated $65,000 for that purpose.

At Columbus, Ohio, a six-story brick and stone office building will be erected, at State and Fourth streets, by J. W. Dusenberry, to cost about $50,000.

At Cincinnati, Ohio, E. Anderson has finished plans for a hall and theatre building to be erected by the Cincinnati College of Music. The cost will be $15,000.

At Fall River, Bristol Co., Mass., a new court house, to cost $200,000, will be erected of stone. The superintendent, Valentine Mason, will begin the foundation at once.

At New York City, the Lancashire Insurance Company, of Manchester, England, has purchased the premises, No. 25 Pine street for $195,000, upon the site of which they will erect a fine office building.

At Alexandria, Alexandria Co., Virginia, a large hall and school will be erected on Duke street. Rev. P. O. Kane can give information. Contracts not yet let for gymnasium apparatus, gas fixtures, chairs and school furniture. The cost will be about $10,000.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

ASSIGNMENT FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.

—An assignment for creditors made in New York, in conformity with the laws of that State, passes the title to property in Pennsylvania as between residents of New York, although the assignment has never been recorded in Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the act of May 3, 1885.—Bacon et al. vs. Horne et al., May 7, 1889.

DAMAGES.—The Pennsylvania act of 1868 limiting the amount to be recovered in actions against railroad companies and common carriers for negligence to $3,000, in case of personal injuries and $5,000 in case of death, providing that "upon the acceptance of the provisions hereof by any carrier or corporation the same shall become a part of its Act of Incorporation," does not constitute a contract with a corporation, and is abrogated by the new Constitution of Pennsylvania, Art. 3, Sec. 21, providing that no statute shall limit the amount of recovery for injuries resulting in death, or for injuries to persons or property.—Penna. R. R. Co. vs. Bowers, Feb. 11, 1889.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—Where a tenant by courtesy has had a share of property allotted or delivered to him in severalty, in partition, other parties to the partition who did not in these proceedings raise the question of his right cannot afterwards deny that he was a life tenant.

A tenant for life when not precluded by restraining words, may not only work open mines, but may work them to exhaustion.

A tenant by courtesy in an estate, which consists of coal mines and mining privileges, has the right to work open mines, even to exhaustion, although he is not a tenant of the service.—Rankin's Appeal, Nov. 28, 1888.

MORTGAGE.—Where one of the joint obligors on a bond, secured by a mortgage on property which is subsequently conveyed by such obligors subject to the mortgage, stands by and permits the grantee of the land to pay the mortgage debt to the person named in the mortgage, after it had been decided by the Court, to such obligors knowledge, that such person was not entitled thereto, and was not the real owner of the mortgage, all the joint obligors will be affected by the act of their co-obligors, and will not be released by such erroneous payment from their joint personal liability to the actual owner of the bond and mortgage. The doctrine of lis pendens applies only to a purchaser pendente lite of the property in litigation, hence the purchaser of mortgaged premises will not, under that doctrine, be affected with notice of a pending suit, involving simply the title to the mortgage, not to the land.

The doctrine of lis pendens affects only those who purchase from parties to the suit.—Green vs. Rick, Oct. 1, 1888.

All above cases can be found in Book 2 Sawyer's Rep. Annotated.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JULY 3, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

IN OUR next issue we will present very interesting tables, showing the building operations and sales of real estate for the first six months of the present year.

THE demand for houses for investment is reasonably good, and a fair summer business can be expected. An interview with several prominent parties elicits the fact that they, at least, do not anticipate any serious falling off in the sale of property, in fact the feeling is more hopeful than otherwise.

It is evident that the building operations for the year have thus far been done on a sound financial basis, and there are very few operators who are willing to sell at a sacrifice. Money is plenty and cheap, and there is really little sense in the cry of over-building, in the face of the figures taken from the Philadelphia Record, showing an increase of nearly 11,000 voters over last year, and which means, if they mean anything, that eight to ten thousand more dwellings are needed this year for the population of this city than were required in 1888.

GENERAL CASEY, in charge of the construction work of the new Congressional Library Building at Washington, has contracted for over a half million enameled brick of English manufacture. The General bought these brick, he says, because they were cheaper than those of American make, and very much superior. As to their being cheap the General's statement may be correct, but it is generally conceded that Philadelphia is now producing an enameled brick that is without a superior in the world. A high tariff administration purchasing from English manufacturers English material for American government buildings with money representing the thrift and labor of American workmen, is protecting American labor with a vengeance.

The "pauper labor of Europe" does not seem to be such a stench in the nostrils of some people as it did before the election.

PHILADELPHIA'S population is increasing more rapidly than even the closest observer comprehends, we have held to this belief for some time back. Confirmatory of our opinion the Philadelphia Record, recently presented a statement prepared from the Assessor's lists of voters for this year, showing an actual increase of 10,667 voters over last year. The twenty-sixth ward showing an increase of 1,001, which is the greatest of any of the wards. The thirty-fourth follows with an increase of 744 voters. The first ward 647. The seventh 568. The nineteenth 505. The twenty-ninth 512. The twenty-third 442. The twenty-first 378. The thirty-first 304. The fifteenth 288. The twenty-seventh 285. The eighth 264. The twentieth 257. The fifth 242. The twenty-seventh 216. The tenth 227. The third 203. The eighteenth 141. The fourteenth 112. The twelfth 73. The sixth 54. The thirteenth 48. The thirtieth 22, while the second ward shows a gain of only 18 voters, making a total gain of 10,877, from which must be deducted a falling off of 210 voters, distributed in the following wards. The fourth ward shows a decrease of 22 voters. The ninth ward 40. The eleventh 43. The sixteenth 51. The seventeenth 54. The twenty-fifth, thirty-second and thirty-third wards, according to the table, have neither gained or lost a single voter during the year. Of course it must be remembered that the twenty-fifth and twenty-eighth wards have been divided since last year's vote was polled, the new thirty-second and thirty-third wards having been taken from their territory.

The Record in conclusion says, these figures form a basis on which to estimate the city's population. Allowing $\frac{4}{5}$ residents to every registered voter, the population of Philadelphia is now 1,100,000. This is a conservative estimate. But it is claimed by some, that the ratio of voters to population is as 1 to 5, which would swell the city's population to 1,223,065. Taking the latter figures as the population of the city, and allowing five persons to each dwelling, it is very evident that at least 244,613 dwelling houses are needed to house the people.

Metalithic unites in its composition a vast improvement over all the advantages claimed for other processes of paving and flooring.

The galvanized iron chain (spiked at each angle) used in its construction, neutralizes the effect of heat and cold, and thus prevents cracking and bulging, one of the most serious objections to other systems. This method has the unqualified indorsement of all Architects, Engineers, Contractors and individuals, firms and corporations who have used it, for strength, beauty and durability, and is rapidly superseding other systems wherever brought in competition. Licenses, Patent Rights and all processes for Cities, Counties and States, will be granted to responsible parties on liberal terms, by addressing:

Of course there are styles of headwear that you don't care to buy, but we mean our Hat Store to have everything of the sort a man or boy needs for dress or for comfort.

The newest Heath Hats (London) are at hand. Every make that we are to have is here.

Knox's Derby and Silk Hats are as near the top as any. You never see that name in a mean Hat.

Best Philadelphia makes too. Jumble them all up and you might not hit the Heath or Knox at the first or second choice. When a certain point of Hat goodness is passed how many of you make up your minds after a look in the crown?

Silk Hats, $4 to $8.

Derby Hats, $1.50 to $5.

All the other things that help to comfortably and perfectly dress the man.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JULY 10, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE Germans have a new method of enameling metal roofing tiles to make them moisture proof as well as proof against the influence of acid vapors. The metal used is iron, which unlike American roofing tiles the necessary bending to lock joints does not crack the enamel, consequently there is no danger in the new method German tiles of the iron becoming exposed to rust and decay.

It is not very often that this Journal lays claim to any credit for itself, but it now feels that it is justly entitled to at least a share of praise for some very healthy innovations recently made by the new Board of Building Inspectors in the form of applications for building permits. The new form embraces, the material to be used, estimated cost of buildings, size of lot, the purpose for which the building is to be used, the name of the owner and contractor, together with the residence of the owner. This change is most important, it places Philadelphia on a footing with other, and even smaller cities. It places the responsibility for all evasions of the building laws where it belongs, besides which it furnishes much needed building data, and relieves the gatherer of statistics from the necessity of guessing.

THE brickmakers are justly indignant over General Casey's recent purchase of English enameled brick for the new Congressional Library Building at Washington, D. C. A half million high-priced bricks they say is no small order. They feel that the question of price should not control the action of government officials in the selection of material for government buildings.

It is not to be expected that with the present rate of wages paid in this country that American brick can be sold for less than those of English make.

Brick like every other building material, chiefly represents labor, the cost of raw material is little or nothing, it is the labor expended in the production that controls the cost.

If the officers of an administration that was elected under the pressure of the sentiment of Protection to American Labor are to enter foreign markets for material for government buildings, it is high time for it to haul down its protection flag and acknowledge the emptiness of the sentiment.

The following resolution was passed by the local assemblies of brick makers on Sunday last.

Whereas it has come to the knowledge of the various brickmaking assemblies of Philadelphia that the United States Government has purchased 550,000 enameled bricks from English manufacturers; and, whereas it is well known that all the bricks necessary for the work could have been purchased in the city of Philadelphia alone; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the brickmakers of Philadelphia protest in behalf of their fellow workmen throughout the country against the action of the Government in the importation of an article that can be manufactured at home.

Miscellaneous.

At Kansas City, Missouri, a new theatre will be erected at a cost of $120,000. The architect is Hugh Coyne.

At Milwaukee, Wis., the Falk, Jung & Bochart Brewing Company's plant, destroyed by fire at a loss of $700,000, will be rebuilt.

Mr. C. P. Huntington, owner of the New York Daily Star, has purchased of Robert Bonner's Sons, of the New York Ledger, six lots at Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue for $450,000, and it is reported Mr. Huntington will erect a $1,000,000 mansion on the site.

At Tonawanda, Erie Co., N. Y., the Y. M. C. A. will erect a building to cost $20,000, heated by steam and will contain a gymnasium. The congregation of the Church of the Disciple will erect a new edifice to cost $7,000. The plans for these two buildings have been prepared by Falkner & Johnson, Buffalo, N. Y.

At Buffalo, N. Y., the congregation of the First Congregational Church will erect an edifice to cost about $40,000. It will be brick and stone, 80 by 127 feet and contain all modern improvements. A new public school house will be erected, to cost $55,000. Both of these operations will be erected from plans prepared by C. D. Swan, of Buffalo.

Boston is holding her own in fine buildings. At least 350 brick, stone and iron buildings have been commenced in that city since the first of January, of which at least 37 will cost $100,000 each. There are 313 that will average $40,000.

THE latest novelty in the way of roofing material is woven-wire, this is made of small mesh and is coated with a varnish made of linseed oil and other materials which are kept a secret. The result is in substance a material similar to oiled muslin, such as the wet weather garments of sailors. It is stated that dampness or heat does not affect it, as it neither hardens nor becomes sticky. It has already been substituted for the glass roof on the Royal Aquarium of Westminster, England.

A GERMAN newspaper published in Palestine states that the city of Jerusalem is growing in size and population at a remarkable rate. The Jews are the most prominent builders, and churches, gardens and institutes of various kinds are taking the place of the desolate neighborhoods which were formerly so frequent. Russians, Greeks and Armenians are also contributing largely to the growth of the ancient city. The former have constructed a lofty tower on the crown of the mount of Olives, from the summit of which both the Mediterranean and the Dead sea are visible. Catholic and other churches are being built in numbers, and altogether a spirit of enterprise is manifest such as has not been seen in the city of David for centuries.—E.x.

Great Increase in the Number of New Buildings erected or in course of erection during the first six months of 1889.

With tables showing a comparison with the same months of 1888.

An Increase of 42.4 per cent. in the Number of New Buildings over Last Year, and an Increase of about 28 per cent. in the Amount Invested during the same months.

Valuable information for Builders, Architects, Owners and Operators in Real Estate.

The following carefully prepared summary of building operations for the first half of 1889, will better enable the readers of the REAL ES-TATE RECORD to comprehend the vast influences that are at work enlarging and beautifying this great city. While perusing these tables the reader must also bear in mind the fact that the number of costly structures erected thus far during 1889, is much less than were erected during 1888. Neither is it at all probable that the number of costly buildings of all kinds will equal that of last year, in fact, the demand for expensive office buildings seems to have been well satisfied.

Our tables show an increased demand for dwelling houses; of these the two-story house still maintains its former place as a leading favorite.

For this year we record the erection of 4,714 two-story houses, against 3,250 for the same months of last year, thus indicating an increase of 1,464 over 1888, or a greater increase by 444 than the figures for the building season, first ten months of 1888, showed over the same time of 1887.

In the matter of Ward development the Twenty-eighth is still justly entitled to the flag for supremacy, for notwithstanding the fact that this ward has recently lost a large slice of its territory, which was taken to make one of the new wards, yet it makes the handsome showing of 1,184 new two-story houses against 1,041, which were erected within its limits during the same months of last year, and before the ward was divided to form the new Thirty-second ward. If we add to the number of two-story houses erected this year in the Twenty-eighth ward those which have been erected in the Thirty-second, the showing would be 1,482.

Three-story dwellings have received more attention this year than last, owing as we think to a conservative demand for larger and better houses. The figures for the first six months of this year are 1,427 against 1,007 for the same period of last year, showing a large increase of 420.

The banner ward for three-story houses for the first half of this year is the Twenty-ninth ward, the figures showing 241 against 237 for the Twenty-eighth ward, which won the banner last year, but if we add to the record of the Twenty-eighth ward the 93 three-story houses that were built in that part of its old territory which was taken to form the new Thirty-second ward, it would make the magnificent showing of 330. It is very evident from this statement that this section of the city is losing none of its former attractions to those in quest of houses to live in.

We give in our tables a resume by wards of our summary of 1888 for two and three-story houses for the same period, in order that our readers may make comparisons for the year.
A noticeable feature of this year's building operations is the large increase in the number of four-story dwellings. We record the erection of twenty-six of these already this year against only fourteen which were erected during the whole of the year 1888.

The Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth, Thirteenth and Seventeenth wards have thus far had no two-story houses erected within their limits this year, and no three-story houses in this year been erected in the Fifth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth wards.

The total number of operations for the year up to June 30th, as represented by the building permits, exclusive of alteration and additions, were 6,498, at an estimated cost of $19,860,317, against 4,563 operations for the same time of last year, the cost of which was estimated at $15,160,001, thus showing an increase of 1,935 new buildings and a corresponding increase of the investment for the same six months of last year of $4,444,316.

We take considerable pleasure in presenting the following tables showing the record of transfers for the first six months of 1889, as an offset against the small army of alarmists who have looked with dreadful forebodings upon the enterprise and courage of our builders, and who seem to recognize greater danger as the season advanced. It will be observed that during the month of June when the nervous ones were most numerous, the records shows that the conveyances of real property were the heaviest, as during that month the conveyances recorded were 1,719, amounting to $8,909,551.07.

The total number of conveyances recorded from January 1st to June 30th inclusive, were 8,419, amounting to $42,374,824.95, to which must be added the sales at auction for the same time of $2,410,891.82, making a grand total of $44,785,716.77.

Referring to our tables of last year we find that during the whole of 1888 there were but 12,679 conveyances recorded, their value being

$62,663,201.87, we also find that the total value of the property sold at auction during the whole of 1888 was only $3,890,390.51, against which we place the record of the first six months of this year of $2,410,891.82, thus it will be seen that at the present ratio of increase if continued throughout the year, the result will be double that of last year.

The mortgage encumbrance on the properties conveyed this year up to June 30th amounts to 20½ per cent., while the ground rent encumbrance on the same represents, at six per cent., a principal of $4,886,386.50. The encumbrance on the properties sold at auction represents 12½ per cent.

The general feeling among the large operators in Real Estate and prominent Builders, is to the effect that the business of this present year has been done on a sound financial basis, and that as a rule the building ventures represent but an average business risk, with very few cases where extra hazardous risks have been taken and in these few cases it is a question of location only, which may yet prove very advantageous investments.

We present the opinions of a few prominent Builders and Real Estate men whom we have interviewed.

Messrs. John J. and Michael Cassidy, Builders, 1102 Camilla street, who built and sold $250,000 worth of property in the First and Twenty-sixth wards last year, report that their operations thus far this year are far in excess of previous seasons. The demand is equal to the supply, and many houses are sold before construction. At the present rate their operations this year, will reach the large sum of $600,000.

Allen B. Rorke, Drexel Building, expresses the opinion that a 1 operations of this year are established on a sound financial basis, and that the outlook is good for the rest of the season.

Mr. Joseph Hancock, ex-building Inspector, said, that when he resigned his office on the 20th of June, the indications for building in West Philadelphia, was towards an increase.

Thomas H. Parks, Real Estate, Eighteenth and Diamond streets, says: "The operations of this year are at least one-third greater than last year, and as yet the supply is not greater than the demand, there being a ready sale particularly for houses of a better class."

Page Brothers, Real Estate. This firm built extensively in the 25th ward, (now the 32d.), but are not doing so now. Mr. Page says that builders in that section of the city, have gone crazy. He is building now in West Philadelphia, don't know what he will do in the building line in the future; he will move cautiously, as yet he sees no reason for alarm.

J. E. & A. L. Pennock; This has been a good year so far, not so good as last year, there is not that snap as there was last year. It can be characterized as a fair season. Their operations are principally large ones; they see no reason for a drop in the market and expect business to run along about as it has done since the first of the year.

Moses & King, have nothing on hand to report new, the prospects are very good, they have a number of new jobs in the office; but this year is the worst they ever had, for the people being undecided as to their intentions, they have made more sketches this year for such people, than any other year.

Mr. Gillingham, President of the Board of Building Inspectors, Says: "I think next year there will be a stagnation in building operations on account of the number of houses which have been built during this year, which exceeds last year, during the same corresponding months, and which remain either un-rented or un-sold. I refer especially to the 28th and 32d wards. This opinion however hardly applies to the 33d ward, the houses there which remain un-rented or un-sold, not being so large in number."

"Our City Editor" Says: that the general opinion seems to be that West Philadelphia is all right for building this year. While the 28th 32d and 33d wards are being over-built.

Isaac Pursell, his work lies principally with Churches, he has built a number in this city and has plans for others. This year is the best he ever had; work is plenty with him and prospects very good.

F. A. Flood, Builder, Eighteenth and Diamond streets, says, that building has been done thus far this year, on a sound basis, but thinks caution should be now used, the North-west part of the city is bound to have a bright future.

J. T. Jackson & Co., Real Estate, 711 Walnut street, say that the first four months of the year were the best they have ever had, but during the last two months business has been very dull. There is no demand for fine country places either for selling or renting.

Messrs. Brown & Day, 1305 Arch street, have more work on hand this June than they had last June, and have had a prosperous season. They are very busy, and all the work they are now doing has come in since the first of the year. They cannot answer for next season.

R. C. Ballinger & Co., Contractors, Lucas Building: "This season has been better with us than any we have ever had, and we think the future is bright for coming business in our line. The building of two and three-story houses is overdone in some sections of the city, principally in the Twenty-eighth and Thirty-second wards. While there are numerous houses being erected in West Philadelphia, they all seem to rent or sell."

E. H. Flood, Builder, 2035 North Twenty-second street, believes that we have houses enough, and that the last half of 1888 will fall greatly behind the last half of 1887. "Of course," he says, "so long as our financial institutions continue making liberal advances of money there will be considerable building done." But his experience is that when shoemakers, doctors and lawyers take a hand at building, it is time for the practical builder to move carefully—and the time has come.

The following Tables by Months, show the number of Two and Three-Story Dwelling Houses, including Two and Three-Story Stores and Dwellings, erected from January 1st to June 30th, inclusive for 1889, in each of the Thirty-three Wards, with a comparison by Wards for the same months of 1888.

Mr. Addison Hutton, Architect, 400 Chestnut street, says, there is much work now on hand, but it is in an undecided state, and it is impossible to say whether it will go on or not.

James H. Windrim, 132 S. Fourth street, has plenty of work on hand, with splendid prospects for the future, has no trouble with his clients as to sketches, few uncertainties.

T. Roney Williamson, 138 South Fourth street, his work is confined mostly to suburban residences. He says that up to May, his business amounted to almost nothing, but from that time it took a sudden spurt, and has now enough work to keep him busy until November. The prospects are very good. He experiences the same trouble as most other architects have this year, viz.: People ordering work, and then becoming uncertain whether to go on with it or not. This can be set down as the experience of most of the architects this year.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JULY 17, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

We feel highly flattered at the attention and high estimation placed upon our editorial on the Government's recent purchase of enameled brick by the Washington, D. C., National Builder, which in its last issue inserted it as its own, but it is good taste and good manners to state from whence it was taken.

MAYOR FITLER seems determined to protect the city against the Reading Railroad Company's proposed construction of its terminal, with or without authority, but the property owners whose interests are to be even more seriously affected, remain without a champion. The question is a serious one to a man whose little home is his all and who realizes that the construction of the elevated, will render it next to non-inhabitable, besides greatly depreciating its value. Justice to property owners merits as much consideration as the city's interest, and if city councils and the Mayor as the elected representatives of the people are indifferent as to the right of citizens, little if any consideration will be given them by corporations.

THE present prevalence of typhoid fever in the city is an unanswerable argument in favor of a better water supply. Nearly five hundred cases of this dread disease have been reported to the Board of Health within the past six weeks, and in nearly every case those who have made the matter a subject of investigation assign the impure drinking water of the city as the cause of the present outbreak. In the face of these facts, it is clearly the duty of the city to make some move by which the evil can be remedied. Thousands of people who are unable to leave the city are compelled to drink this disease-laden water day after day, with the comfortable assurance that their lives are jeopardized at each draught. All the investigations which may be made by Port Physician Randall from now until the crack of doom, avail little or nothing, unless the city rises to the occasion, and uses the knowledge thus obtained as a means for removing the cause of the plague, for that, to tell the truth, is the true meaning of the presence of this disease in our city to-day.

THE New York Real Estate Record says that New York City is growing very rapidly as a business city, but its residence area is growing very slowly. What it terms as a building revival in New York is clearly demonstrated by its own figures showing the building done for the first six months of 1887 '88 and '89 to be a greater falling off compared with 1887.

"It says: The extent of this 'revival' is shown by these figures giving the amount of building the first six months of 1887, 1888 and 1889: 1887, buildings projected, 2,923; cost, $47,215,140; 1888, 1,647 buildings to cost $25,524,678; 1889, 2,170 buildings to cost $41,084,072. Thus it will be seen that, though building in New York is certainly better than last year, it is nothing like as lively as in 1887."

Compared with Philadelphia, New York makes a very poor showing in the number of new buildings, although the cost is more than double. The fact being, that Philadelphia erected 6489 new buildings exclusive of alterations costing $19,860,317 against 2170 in New York, costing $41,084,072.

Snide Journalism.

For an example of superlative cheek and downright pre-determined plagiarism we commend to the reading public the Daily News of this city. In its issue of the 12th instant, it devotes three-quarters of a column on its first page to an article purporting to be its own report of the building operations in this city for the first six months of this year, when, in fact, every statement, every figure was purposely purloined from our own report published in the issue of this Journal of the 10th instant, unfortunately for the enterprising (?) News, we had anticipated its well known characteristics for appropriating other peoples' work, by mailing to every real estate man and every builder and contractor in this city a copy of our issue of the 10th instant, containing our report, consequently those in whose interest the report was published, will certainly detect the fraud and the News must, as it justly deserves to fall in the estimation of these men. We have no objection to having the many good things which appear from time to time in the columns of this Journal properly quoted, but we claim the right to the usual courtesy extended by reputable journals and we regret that the Daily News, of this city, is not among them.

NOTWITHSTANDING the opinion held by many, that the Real Estate of Philadelphia County is heavily covered by mortgages, facts prove the contrary. As was shown in our last issue, the per centage of mortgage encumbrance on the $42,000,000 worth of property that was transferred during the first half of the present year, amounted to only twenty and one-half per cent. But this is probably the maximum per centage of Mortgage encumbrance on the real property held in ownership. The amount of mortgages covering property known as building operations, or in other words builders' mortgages, is probably much greater; and it is to be regretted that there is no data available to show just what the amount is. There has been no time, for many years (certainly not since the Jay Cook failure), when the real property of Philadelphia County has been so free from incumbrance as now. The people have invested largely in real estate, and have purchased very closely on a cash basis, to be sure, a great many of the small houses have been sold on exceptionally easy terms, but the amount of such property sold is very much smaller than is generally supposed. Millions of dollars, representing the savings of the people, have been drawn from the saving-fund institutions, and have been invested in small houses.

There is, perhaps, no large city in the United States where real estate is so generally distributed among the people, or where the ratio of incumbrance is so small as in Philadelphia.

IF HE who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, is to be commended, how much more worthy of commendation are the efforts of the young men of the building fraternity who, with pluck and energy enter the isolated and long-neglected sections of the city, and, with enterprise and energy, in keeping with their own indomitable will, erect rows of attractive houses on spots that for years have been abandoned to the rubbish heaps and pools of stagnant water.

The amount of reclaimed land of this nature, that has been added to the list of improved property, thereby yielding an increased revenue to the city, is something wonderful. The south-east section of the city, including that part of the First ward, known as Smoky Hollow, has undergone a remarkable change through the enterprise of J. J. and Michael Cassidy. These gentlemen have ditched and drained, and filled hundreds of acres in this section alone, in fact, it is stated that they have already reclaimed and have in course of reclamation five hundred acres, on which they propose to erect buildings as fast as the demand will justify.

In the northern and northwestern part of the city at least 150 acres have been reclaimed, a large part of which lies north and east of Old Fellows Cemetery. The heads of these operations include Mr. Thomas H. Parks, Mr. John M. Sharp, Mr. Thomas P. Twibill and Mr. Harry Schoch, all of whom have greatly added to the property valuation of the city. Beautiful streets have been made, and thousands of handsome two and three-story dwellings have been erected through the energy and enterprise of these gentlemen, in sections that were heretofore little better than public eyesores.

THE Pittsburgh Real Estate Record in its issue of July 6th furnishes its readers with a table showing the number of buildings erected in the respective wards of that city for the first six months of 1889. The showing is a good one and is one more evidence of the universal prosperity which seems to have characterized building operations the present year. We give the figures. Number of brick buildings 579, number of frame buildings 774, number of stone buildings 10, number of iron clad buildings 10, total 1373. The cost being $2,481,481.

From advanced sheets kindly furnished us by Mr. David T. Day, Chief of the Division of Mining Statistics of the U. S. Geological Survey, we are enabled to present extracts from the annual report of that department for 1888. In structural material, but a small gain is shown over 1887.

The value of building stones produced in the United States for 1888 is placed at $25,500,000, being a gain of $500,000 over 1887.

In bricks and tile the production for 1888 amounted in value to $48,213,000, a small gain over 1887, owing to the increased number of plants, but it is claimed in the report that there was a considerable falling off in production among the older and more important sources of supply.

The lime produced in the United States for 1888, amounted to 49,087,000 barrels, which at an average value of 50 cents per barrel, amounted to $24,543,500 against which we quote 46,750,000 barrels for 1887, which at the same price per barrel amounted to $23,375,000, a gain of $1,168,500. The increase it is claimed is owing not so much to increased production in the principal lime sections of the country as localities of minor importance.

In cement the production for 1888, is less than that of 1887, the latter having been 6,692,744 barrels valued at $5,186,877 against 6,253,295 barrels valued at $4,533,639 for 1888, but it must be borne in mind that the estimated value of the production of 1887 was based on a value of 77½ cents per barrel, while that of 1888 is only valued at 72½ cents per barrel.

Iron and Steel.—The principal statistics for 1888 were: Domestic iron ore consumed, at about 12,060,000 long tons; value at mines, $28,944,000. This is an increase over 1887 in quantity of 760,000 tons, but a decrease in value of $4,956,000. Imported iron ore consumed in 1888, about 12,650,000 long tons, or 150,000 tons more than in 1887. Pig iron made in 1888, 6,489,738 long tons; value at furnace, $1,070,000. This is an increase over 1887, of 72,500 tons in quantity, but a decrease of $14,925,800 in value. Steel of all kinds produced in 1888, 2,899,440 long tons; valued at works, $89,000,000. This is a decrease from 1887 of 439,631 tons in quantity and of $4,811,000 in value. Total spot value of all iron and steel made in 1888, in the first stage of manufacture, excluding all duplications, $145,000,000, a decrease of $26,103,000 as compared with 1887. Limestone used as a flux in the manufacture of pig iron in 1888, about 5,438,000 long tons; value at quarry, about $2,719,000.

Coal.—The total production of all kinds of commercial coal in 1888 was 142,037,735 short tons (increase over 1887, 18,022,480 tons), valued at the mines at $204,221,990 (increase, $30,625,994). This may be divided into Pennsylvania anthracite 43,922,897 short tons (increase, 4,416,642 short tons) or 39,216,872 long tons, in cluding 38,145,718 long tons shipped by the railroads and canals and reported by their statisticians. Mr. John H. Jones, and 1,071,154 long tons sold to the local trade at the mines (increase, 3,943,430 long tons), valued at $85,649,649 (increase, $6,284,405); all other coals, including bituminous, brown coal, lignite, small lots of anthracite produced in Colorado and Arkansas, and 4,000 tons of graphitic coal mined in Rhode Island, amounting in the aggregate to 98,114,838 short tons (increase, 13,605,808 tons), valued at $118,572,341 (increase, $24,341,580).

The colliery consumption at the individual mines varies from nothing to 8 per cent of the total output of the mines, being greatest at special Pennsylvania anthracite mines and lowest at those bituminous mines where the coal beds lie nearly horizontal, and where no steam power or ventilating furnaces are used. The averages for the different States vary from 2 to 6.4 per cent, the minimum average being in the Pennsylvania bituminous and the maximum average being in the Pennsylvania anthracite region.

The total output of the mines, including colliery consumption, was: Pennsylvania anthracite 14,624,610 long tons (increase over 1887, 4,045,863 long tons) or 46,619,564 short tons (increase, 4,531,367 short tons); all other coals, 102,039,838 short tons (increase, 14,527,478 tons), making the total output of all coals from mines in the United States, exclusive of slack coal thrown on the dumps, 148,659,402 short tons (increase, 18,683,845 tons), valued as follows: Anthracite $89,020,483 (increase, $4,468,302); bituminous, $122,497,341 (increase, $24,492,685); total value $211,517,824 (increase, $28,960,987). The above figures show a notable increase in 1888 over 1887 in the aggregate output and value of both anthracite and bituminous coal, although not as great an increase as occurred in 1887 over 1886 in the value of the anthracite, or in the total tonnage of the bituminous coal.

Coke.—The production of coke in the United States in 1888 was 8,327,560 tons, valued at about $14,000,000. Pennsylvania produced by far the largest amount, the Connellsville region alone producing 4,955,553 tons; West Virginia, 528,533 tons; Alabama, 518,511 tons; Tennessee, 385,693 tons, and Virginia, 149,099 tons.

Petroleum.—The product of petroleum in the United States in 1888 was 27,346,018 barrels (of 42 gallons each), valued at about $24,598,559. Of this amount Pennsylvania produced 16,491,083 barrels; Ohio, 10,010,868 barrels; West Virginia, 119,448 barrels; California, 704,619 barrels; and other States 20,000 barrels.

Natural Gas.—The amount of natural gas consumed is given in coal displacement; that is, the amount of coal displaced by the use of natural gas. It is estimated that the amount of coal displaced by natural gas in the United States in 1888 was 12,163,830 tons valued at $22,662,128. Of this amount 12,543,830 tons were displaced in Pennsylvania; 750,000 tons in Ohio, and 660,000 tons in Indiana.

The Future City.

The future great city of our continent is yet unknown. I see in the near future such a city; its streets models cleanliness, its sewerage system up to every need, a plentiful supply of unpolluted water to every inhabitant, its garbage removed, its streets and alleys cleaned, its sewers flushed during the midnight hours, its avenues shaded and cooled in summer by trees, whose properties are health giving; its parks and drive-ways made pleasing and beautiful by the hand of man, the face of nature changed to meet the wants and needs of its inhabitants, its public buildings under vigilant supervision—models for the world. Such a city would be the magnet to draw to its bosom the wealth and culture of the nations. Its highway graced by institutions dedicated to the arts and sciences, on its fair brow the learning of a continent would find a fitting home.—Andrew Young.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JULY 24, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

As time passes it becomes more and more evident that a new residence is needed for the President, and it is to be hoped that the recent report of Commissioner Wilson will have some effect leading to action on this subject by Congress at this next session. From time to time, leading newspapers have devoted editorial space to the subject of the White House, crying it down, both on account of its wretched sanitary condition and the limited space which it affords for official and private life combined. Its historical associations are such that its demolition would assume the nature of a personal grievance to every American citizen who holds in a kind of reverence the place, filled with the memory of distinguished men and women, closely identified with the history of our country from its beginning until the present time; at the same time there is no good reason why the President and his family should not be comfortably housed, with all the conveniences belonging to an ordinary citizen, and the White House devoted exclusively to official business.

It is rumored that on August 1st next, the stockholders of the Real Estate Exchange of this city are to be called together for the purpose of deciding whether that organization is to be continued or abandoned altogether.

It is very evident, it is said, that the organization cannot be continued on its present basis; that apathy has taken possession of the remaining members and that very little interest is expressed.

We are not prepared to believe that an early disruption of the organization is at all probable, we know that there are still a large number of strong men identified with it and we are loath to believe that an institution so favorably located, representing as it does a business interest of over $42,000,000 in the first half of the present year, is existing only in name and is altogether a useless luxury.

The fact is, the mistake of supposing that the membership would support the institution by assessments etc., was made in the beginning and as a consequence, against the wishes of a number of gentlemen who subsequently withdrew, the money making element which they desired incorporated, was ignored. In fact, the Real Estate Investment Company, of this city, was organized by the very men who declined membership in the Real Estate Exchange unless it embraced financial and real estate business characteristics, believing at the time, as they said, that certain powers to transact business of the above nature were necessary in order to make the institution a financial success.

That the Real Estate Investment Company is a decided success is a foregone conclusion, for it paid a dividend of five per cent. on its first years' business and a semi-annual dividend this year at the yearly rate of six per cent. besides adding a handsome sum to its surplus account. We cite these facts as to the success of the Investment Company, because we advocated and desired the Real Estate Exchange when organized to obtain chartered rights sufficiently broad or similar to those of the Investment Company in order that it might possess a money earning power, thus rendering it independent of the necessity of repeatedly assessing its members to meet expenses, but wiser council prevailed and the social sentiment absorbed the more practical ideas advanced by others as well as ourselves.

In our issue of July 26th, 1886, we said:

"The charter for the Real Estate Exchange must be broad and comprehensive enough to anticipate every possible contingency, besides which it must be so drawn that when granted, its powers will embrace every business element in Real Estate transactions, in order that the Exchange might become, if necessity requires it, a formidable weapon in the interest of its members for both defense and offense against competition and absorption. It must command by virtue of its capital strength and the personal and collective influence of the members, a place second to no corporate institution (railroads perhaps excepted) in this city. It must have the means for making the money not only necessary for its current expenses, but enough to make itself felt in opposition to State or municipal legislation inimical to the "real estate interest. It need not enter into speculation for there are hundreds of business transactions that legitimately belong to such an organization. * * * * * To create an organization that would simply afford its members a pleasant meeting place is not enough. * * * * * It must be made the foster mother of the whole real estate interest of the city. * * * Men of small ideas who seek self-elevation, and would be satisfied with an organization of an ambiguous nature, handicapped with limitations in keeping with their brain area, so long as they obtained place and power, must step to the rear, for in this emergency, when practically the very success of the organization itself is seriously involved, there is only room at the front for men of brains, who have no selfish purposes to serve and who without qualification of any kind desire the success of the organization over and above every other consideration.

It will be seen from above that the Real Estate Record even in 1886, recognized the importance of the Exchange possessing a money earning power. It must meet expenses through some other source than assessments upon its members, for as results have clearly shown, members soon become tired paying for fiddling that produces no music. Our ideas were considered utopian at the time, but their practicability have been simply demonstrated by the success of the Real Estate Investment Company which was organized per-force by the very real estate men who were mainly interested in the Exchange and who sought to engraft their business ideas into that organization.

We still hold to our ideas so clearly expressed in 1886, and even now believe it possible, not only to reorganize the Exchange and place it where it properly belongs, in the safe keeping of every real estate man, great or small, in the City of Philadelphia, but to rehabilitate it with such forces as will make its membership so advantageous that the desire to get in, will entirely supersede the present desire to get out.

The Real Estate Investment Company of this city, John J. Ridgway president, has declared a semi-annual dividend of three per cent.

A RECENT relic of the Johnstown flood is a stained glass window taken from the residence of Dr. John Lowman and sent to Wm. Reith, 134 North Seventh street, for repairs. Mr. Reith made the window for Dr. Lowman in 1887.

HOLLOW brick is being extensively used in Eastern cities. Several large buildings having been built of them; they are said to be just as good as solid brick up to 30,000 pounds pressure and cost only 66 per cent. of the cost of solid brick. The bricks are laid on ends, thus making continuous air tubes from cellar to garret, making a wall fire, damp and frost proof, warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

FOR PAVEMENTS AND FLOORS,

and all purposes where durability united with beauty of appearance is desired.

Metalithic unites in its composition a vast improvement over all the advantages claimed for other processes of paving and flooring. The galvanized iron chain (spiked at each angle) used in its construction, neutralizes the effect of heat and cold, and thus prevents cracking and bulging, one of the most serious objections to other systems. This method has the unqualified indorsement of all Architects, Engineers, Contractors and individuals, firms and corporations who have used it, for strength, beauty and durability, and is rapidly superseding other systems wherever brought in competition. Licenses, Patent Rights and all processes for 5 Cities, Counties and States, will be granted to responsible parties on liberal terms, by addressing:

Who is the Man?

WE have all heard of buildings in Europe which are epics in stone, but it remained for an eccentric Philadelphian to construct a remarkable structure which he calls a "poem in brick." The style of architecture is a mixture of arabesque and very early American. And it is completely covered with stucco work representing eagles, animals, flowers, fruit and goddesses of liberty.—Pittsburg Real Estate Record.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JULY 31, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

A GREAT deal of money and considerable filling will be required if Johnstown, Pa., is to be placed on an assured level of safety against future floods, for, according to the opinion of Mr. M. Malone, Superintendent of Government Work at Pittsburg, unless the city is raised to the level of the railroad tracks an inundation, with its attending evils, is liable to occur at any time.

Now that Independence Hall is to be vacated for official purposes, steps should be taken towards adding to its interest, not only as an old historic landmark, but as a free public museum and art gallery. Some interior alterations may be necessary, but this could be done without seriously conflicting with its general old time construction. It is now one of the principal features of interest we have to offer to the view of strangers visiting the city, and it could be made doubly attractive as a place of interest by filling it with articles of an historic character. No doubt thousands of antiquities would be cheerfully contributed, were the assurance given that they would be carefully preserved. What an opportunity the occasion presents for our many millionaires to do the people and city a well timed service.

In a few years we believe an entire change of sentiment will have taken place in favor of New Jersey lands for investment and building purposes. Of course the most liable to realize the attention of builders will be the lands of Camden, Gloucester and Burlington counties. There are several influences even now at work, all of which are gradually tending to produce this result. The first of which, is the growing scarcity of building sites in Philadelphia, and the natural increase in value, of both city and suburban property, for when suburban property reaches into the thousands per acre it becomes too costly to meet the demands and at the same time accommodate the pockets of most of those in quest of cheaper rents and better air and water. The typhoid scare is doing not a little toward driving Philadelphians into seeking out of town homes, and as the remedy is one of the far-away possibilities, there is no doubt that the same causes for dread and alarm must exist for some time to come. Another influence will be the sudden awakening of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which will surely come one of these days to the fact that its local traffic can be materially increased by improving its ferrage and rail facilities through that part of the counties above named, which represent a section of country ripe for development, and which could be made as easy of access as any of the many popular suburban places it has been the means of building up on its main line and branches. Of course, an elevated railroad reaching out into Montgomery and Delaware counties would greatly delay, or rather divert the attention of those looking towards New Jersey for future homes, but the North Eastern Elevated, like the improved water supply, is a proposition in embryo only.

We regret that more asphalt pavement is not to be laid on our principal streets, where traveling is the heaviest, and where the really great features which commend asphalt over and above all other kinds of pavements, are the most needed.

When asphalt pavement was first introduced into this country, it was mostly made of coal tar mixed with sand, and as might have been expected proved defective in wearing qualities, besides yielding to summer heat. As soon as true asphalt was used, and properly laid, its superiority at once became evident. It was even at the time of its introduction into this country, no stranger in Europe, and had been tested in places where travel was the greatest. In Paris, on the principal streets, which at one time were largely paved with cubical blocks of sandstone, asphalt is now generally used and gives entire satisfaction, being preferred to the wood pavement, which is yet used to some extent, though open to the objections of becoming spongy with use, wearing away rapidly, and when in a state of decay, insalubrious. In London, asphalt is laid on many of the principal thoroughfares, and is preferred to any other kind of pavement. The Swiss or Sicilian mastic, mixed with gravel or sand, is used and is laid over a concrete on a well prepared roadway, to the depth of two inches. It costs from $3 to $4 a square yard, with an additional ten cents a yard per year for keeping in perfect condition. In Berlin, the asphalt is also used to a great extent and gives perfect satisfaction. In face of these facts there is no good reason why Philadelphia should not enjoy the luxury of smooth, clean, noiseless pavements.

Experience with asphalt pavements in this country clearly demonstrates its superiority over stone, both as to cleanliness, noiselessness, and durability. True it needs attention and repairs, but not more so than stone, it is as cheap and has the advantage of absolutely no loss in material, for when old and needing relaying, a cord wood fire soon renders the old stuff as good as new. It is far easier on horses, or would be if, as Professor Newberry, of Columbia College, aptly remarks, all, or the greater number of streets were asphalt, as the horses shoes are worn smooth by the stones, so it is difficult for them to retain a footing on a smooth pavement, particularly in wet weather, though an experience in Washington City for a number of years failed to show that more horses fell there than in Philadelphia on the cobble and other stone pavements. It is also worthy of remark that teams of all kinds choose the pavement around the New City Hall whenever practicable in preference to any other, and a comparison of Juniper street on the block south of Chestnut street, with the block north of the same street in front of John Wanamaker's ought to convince the most skeptical of the superiority of asphalt on streets devoted to constant traffic and hard travel. Its advantages in such narrow streets and alleys in point of cleanliness are a hundred fold greater than other pavements, besides being easier on all kinds of vehicles, and by the saving of nerve power, adding no little to the sum total of human comfort. Of late years, the asphalt pavement has been made into blocks, which, being portable and easy of transportation, are available to persons living in sections of the country, where it might not be possible on account of expense and isolation, to use the sheet asphalt. These blocks when properly laid are just as good as the other and are particularly advantageous for paving the floors and yards of canneries, stable yards, and in fact for all purposes for which a pavement is necessary. With all these advantages, why asphalt should not be utilized as far as possible in paving the principal streets in Philadelphia, is a conundrum, the solution of which we will not even attempt.

Bricklaying in Norway.

The singular fact is mentioned that while in Great Britain building operations are suspended on the slightest approach of frost, bricklaying is carried on in Norway during almost the coldest weather that prevails for any time. Thus, in Christiania, building during the winter months it is stated, has now been practiced for at least twelve years, but more frequently during the last five, all the buildings thus erected having stood remarkably well. Experience has not shown that walls built in winter exhibit, subsequently, more dampness than those erected in summer. The reverse may be the case, since the difference between temperature of the air and of the mortar cools the latter by evaporation and takes away a great part of the moisture. According to the opinion of the principal builders in Christiania, bricklayers' work executed with due care in winter, is really superior to similar work done in summer—the whole art of such work in frosty weather consisting simply in the use of unslacked lime, the mortar prepared with which is to be made in small quantities immediately before use, the proportion of lime being increased as the thermometer falls; the only care required is to utilize the unslacked lime so handily and quickly as to enable the mortar to bind with the bricks before it cools. Another very important condition is that the bricks be always kept covered on the building site.—Exchange.

The Value of Real and Personal Estate in Philadelphia.

THE Board of Revision of Taxes of this City, in its return for the year 1889, to the Secretary of Internal Affairs, presented the following interesting statement. Real estate at city rates $604,075,584. Real estate at suburban rates $43,493,710. Real estate at farm rate $18,755,505; making the total real estate subject to city tax $666,324,799. Horses and cattle, subject to city tax are valued at $3,182,765. The total amount of personal and real estate subject to city tax amounts to $669,507,564 against which is placed the total for 1888 of $647,213,039 or an increase in favor of 1889, of $22,294,525.

The aggregate amount assessed to corporations and individuals in their capacity as trustees, is placed at $185,223,449.56. Carriages to hire are assessed $163,220.

A GRAPHITE AND ACID EXPERIMENT.—A successful experiment, valuable to the mining community, was made last week at the laboratory of the Joseph Dixon Crucible Co., of Jersey City, N. J., U. S. A.

A piece of iron was used ten inches long, two inches wide, and one-sixteenth of an inch thick. One half its surface was painted with Dixon's Silica Graphite Paint, the other half left unpainted.

It was then suspended for several days in a bath of dilute Sulphuric Acid. The acid bath was much stronger than any sulphur water met with in mining. Taking the iron from the bath, the unpainted part was found eaten off to about one-half its original bulk. The painted part did not sustain even the slightest blemish.

This proves conclusively the ability of this paint to withstand Sulphuric Acid, and demonstrates its usefulness, particularly in mining, where iron piping is laid in sulphur water.

A RELIC of the flood is a Steinway piano, taken from under four feet of water, and bringing with it considerable of Johnstown's real estate, is on exhibition in the windows of Charles Blazius & Son's Piano warerooms, 1119 Chestnut street.

The Press and Printer of Boston, Mass., says that over 400 of the newspaper men of New York City now own lots or houses in Brooklyn, L. I., all of which have been secured through Building and Loan Associations.

ARTICLES of incorporation have been filed for a Master Builders' Exchange, at Washington, D. C., of which Charles A. Langley has been elected president; Daniel J. McCarty, first vice president; Edward J. Hauman, second vice president; Thomas J. King, secretary and W. C. Morrison, treasurer.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

ANTE NUPTIAL CONTRACT.—If the provision by a husband for his future wife, in an ante nuptial contract is unreasonably disproportionate to his means, in the absence of a disclosure of the full extent of his means, the presumption of designed concealment arises and throws the burden upon the husband, to show that it was fair.

In considering the question of adequacy of consideration under an ante nuptial contract, regard must be had to all the circumstances surrounding the case.—Neely's Appeal, February 14th, 1889.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—A married woman who has complied with the requirements of the Act of April 3d, 1872, and has thereby become entitled to her separate earnings as provided by that Act, may then borrow money upon her own credit, whether possessed of any separate estate or not; and a stock of goods purchased with money borrowed upon her credit, and acquired and held in good faith by such married woman cannot be seized and sold by her husband's creditors, as his property.—Orr vs. Bornstein, January 28th, 1889.

MECHANIC'S LIENS.—A. and B. were the owners of a tract of land. C. obtained a verbal refusal from them of the tract at a sum agreed on, and thereupon proceeded to organize a granite company, to work a quarry on the same. After the organization of said company, and before incorporation, it took possession of the land and erected buildings thereon. One D. a member of the Company, afterwards entered into articles of agreement with A. and B. for the purchase of the tract. When the last installment of purchase money was paid the letters patent had not yet issued to incorporate the Company and the title was taken in the name of W., who was a naked trustee for the Company. Subsequently, upon the incorporation of the Company, W. conveyed to it the legal title. While W. held the title a mechanic's lien was filed against the land for lumber previously furnished to the Granite Company, to erect its buildings, wherein W. was named as owner or reputed owner and the Granite Company contractor.

Held, that as the title of W. and of the Granite Company were shown to be identical, the lien was properly filed. A mechanic's lien attaches only to the interest of him at whose instance the materials were furnished, or the buildings erected; but where the evidence, however, shows that the holder of the legal title has no interest therein, and that he is a mere naked trustee of the title for the benefit of those by whom the buildings were erected, for which materials were furnished, the mechanic's lien will attach to such legal title.—Weaver vs. Sheeler, February 14th, 1889.

MUNICIPAL CLAIMS.—Where a lien is filed upon a municipal claim for paving, the claim must aver upon its face all facts necessary to sustain its validity; unless it does so, the court may summarily strike off the same, upon motion.

The claim, however, need not disclose the evidence by which the facts are to be proved; it need only state in general terms the authority to do the work for which the claim is filed, but at the trial the plaintiff must prove the specific authority conferred.

The court need not set out the specific ordinances under which the work was done; it is sufficient if the necessary proof is made at the trial.—City to use vs. Richards, January 24th, 1889.

SALE.—An overestimate by a vendor of the value of an article which he sells does not create a cause of action against him, nor is it a defence to a suit for the price agreed to be paid.

In a suit by a vendor against an accommodation endorser of a note given in part payment of the good will and fixtures of a baker's shop, defendant offered to prove that the value of the shop was less than the amount paid and that the fixtures could have been purchased for elsewhere. (objected to and objections sustained).

Held, that this offer was properly refused; it did not controvert any statement by the vendor of a material fact, nor authorize an inference of fraud in the sale.—Byrne vs. Stewart, January 2d, 1889.

WILL.—The rule that when a testator by a codicil revokes a bequest in his will, expressly grounding such revocation on the assumption of a fact which turns out to be false, the revocation does not take effect, being conditional and dependent on a contingency which fails, applies to cases in which the falsity or error of the alleged fact rested not in the personal knowledge of the testator, but was assumed upon information derived from others.

Where the facts upon which the revocation is based are within the knowledge of the testator, he has a right to dispose of his property as he pleases, and he cannot be denied this right.—Mendinall's Appeal, February 12th, 1889.

All above cases can be found in 23, W. N. C.

Washington, D. C.

R. O. Holtzman has sold a lot to the Church of the Covenant adjoining the present church edifice, on which a new parsonage will be erected at some future time. Horace S. Cummings has purchased for a syndicate, a large tract of land in the Eastern part of the city. The property comprises the squares, 958, 969, 970, 1013, 1014, 1015, 1035, 1036, 1037 and 1038, lying to the southeast and north of Lincoln Park. The property was owned by Stephen Flanagan, of Philadelphia. The purchasers will begin the erection of a large number of dwellings as soon as possible. Colonel Brackett, chief clerk of the Treasury Department, expects to erect a residence on his property at Forest Glen Park, on the Metropolitan Branch, B. & O. R. R., a short distance from the city, at Capital View Park on the same road. Washingtonians will erect residences, among which are W. H. Wilson, of the National Bank of the Republic, David Kindleberger, of Riggs & Co., bankers, Miss Prentiss, which will include a school, Samuel S. Shatt, Charles Bradley, Thomas Graham, C. W. Callahan and others. The Episcopal Church to be erected near Le Roy Place will seat 1,500. The lot cost $30,000 and contains 22,000 square feet. The building will be of stone and is in Saint John's Parish.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The contract for the erection of the Spring Garden Farmers Market Company's new building has been awarded to Michael Murray, of Norristown, Pa.

The Trinity Presbyterian Church, Frankford avenue and Cambria street, Rev. James D. Shanks, pastor, will make extensive improvements to their building.

It will contain 175 rooms, and be fitted up with every convenience and improvement. The site covers about seventeen acres. Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, as reported in our issue of last week, is the architect.

It is rumored that William C. Allison & Sons, the car builders, are negotiating with the P. W. & B. R. Co., for a number of acres of land, located at Paschalville, to be used as a site for new car works, etc. With the Brill Car Works at Mount Moriah and the Allison works about two miles distant, property in this section must greatly increase in value. The locating of such a large number of men as are regularly employed by these two concerns in this section, gives it a future business outlook that promises large returns to the owners of property. Bonafon, which lies midway between Mount Moriah and Paschalville will certainly be benefited. In fact, that whole section of West Philadelphia must greatly improve and a heavy jump in values may soon be expected.

HIGHEST AWARD
P. A. S. 1888.

FOR PAVEMENTS AND FLOORS,
and all purposes where durability united with beauty of appearance is desired.

Metalithic unites in its composition a vast improvement over all the advantages claimed for other processes of paving and flooring. The galvanized iron chain (spiked at each angle) used in its construction, neutralizes the effect of heat and cold, and thus prevents cracking and bulging, one of the most serious objections to other systems. This method has the unequalled endorsement of all Architects, Engineers, Contractors and individuals, firms and corporations who have used it, for strength, beauty and durability, and is rapidly superseding other systems wherever brought into competition. Licenses, Patent Rights and all processes for Cities, Counties and States, will be granted to responsible parties on liberal terms, by addressing:

The floors of buildings should have the care of the sanitarian in their construction. Under certain conditions, the majority of the floors laid become injurious to health, and in many instances they have been found the direct cause of infection. Dr. Schaffer, a surgeon of Vienna, has called attention to the unsanitary condition of the floors of tenement and lodging houses, especially those of the laboring classes, as being the cause of many preventable diseases. These floors are frequently washed or sprinkled, and the dirt between and beneath the floor, is kept continually damp and becomes the breeding-ground for infection, and affords excellent soil for the growth of bacteria. Dr. Emmerich, of Munich, traced the cause of pneumonia in a hospital at Amberg, to the bad condition of the floors. He found the assumed microbe of pneumonia, in a sample of the filling taken from the sub-floor of the building. A new floor was placed in a ward where the disease had prevailed, and pneumonia ceased absolutely.—Sanitary News.

The enterprising correspondent of the American Contractor is attempting to formulate a plan for the concentration of news in a "central bureau of information," whereby all persons who have information to impart will send it to the bureau and thus save themselves the trouble of furnishing news to several periodicals. The idea is a good one, only our energetic friend wants to be the "bureau." This is too much like plutocracy and the only receipt for getting news that we know of is the good old fashioned way of hustling, hot weather or cold, sunshine or rain.

The following figures in relation to the manufactures of kid and morocco are of interest: In Newark eight firms employ 900 hands and manufacture $1,200,000 annually. Baltimore with 100 hands in three or four factories, has an annual output of $300,000; 950 hands work in fourteen factories in Johnston and Gloversville, N. Y., and every year make $2,500,000 worth of stock. Sixteen firms in Wilmington, Del., employ 1500 hands, who make $2,700,000 worth of stock. New York city and Brooklyn have twelve manufactories, and the annual output is $1,800,000 by 1100 hands. Thirty places in Massachusetts employ 1677 hands and the value of manufactured stock is $3,800,000. The total annual product of the United States is $21,410,436, of which Philadelphia produces $9,100,000, or 42 per cent of the whole. Thirty-two manufactories and 2200 hands supply this amount, which is but 25 per cent. of the total number employed, while the production is nearly one-half.—Exchange.

In regard to church architecture the Churchman recently wrote: "It is noticeable how many beautiful church buildings are rising all over the land. People are talking about styles of architecture, Gothic, Romanesque, Byzantine, and while they talk the question is becoming settled by practical experience, solivitur ambulando. In fact it is well-nigh impossible to build a church in harmony with our prayer-book without building it after Gothic models. The Gothic style flashed upon the brain of the world at one of those germinative eras when the spirit of Christianity excited men's pulses to fever heat. The inspiration came as a fine conception comes to the poetic mind, unsought, unlabored, and therefore the genuine and authentic image of fact and truth. This is the strongest ground on which Gothic will always be considered the style for churches."—Ex.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. AUG. 7, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE recent heavy rains have destroyed millions of brick that were ready for the kiln. It has been a hard experience for brick makers, as the freshly moulded bricks have been made into mud again. Prices have advanced in Chicago, $1.00 per thousand. The losses will aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars.

LONDON, notwithstanding its large population, has by vigorous sanitary measures reduced its death rate to about sixteen persons in every thousand of its population, of course the closest espionage is constantly kept over the most crowded quarters of the city where the poor live, and the aid of the police is frequently called in to enforce sanitary regulations. The fact is, there is entirely too much looseness in the management of American cities. New York and Chicago pays yearly a fearful penalty through diseases arising from filthy tenements, much of which, could be avoided by rigidly enforced laws and a proper oversight of the sanitary habits of the residents.

THE question of purer water is troubling the minds of the authorities as well as the citizens of nearly all of the large cities. New York is in serious trouble, and, from all accounts, there is quite as much cause for worry there as there is here. A recent inspection of the water sheds around Croton Lake, from which New York gets its supply, discloses a bad state of affairs, for which there seems to be no remedy. Mr. Charles E. Brown, a civil engineer, was recently deputized by the Board of Health to make an investigation. His report shows that New Yorkers are very little better off in the matter of drinking water than our own citizens. He says:

"At the present time there are about 18,500 cows, pigs, horses and sheep on the water-shed, in barns and sheds located near the water; that the entire number of domestic animals is about 33,000. There were found 2,343 houses that directly drained their filth into the streams supplying our city reservoirs, and more than 3,000 barns and barn-yards which sent their refuse into the waters. The towns within this district pour all their filth into the small rivers, and privies are built on pillings out into the stream. Glaring cases of pollution are illustrated in photographs that accompany the report."

NEVER in the history of our country has there been a more general awakening than at the present time, in regard to improvements in everything pertaining to the comfort and safety of the people. This is apparent to any one who will take the trouble to inform himself on what is being done in cities and towns, large and small, all over the country.

New and improved pavements, enlarged and purer water supplies, better and cheaper gas, more rigid building and fire inspection, and the use of better and safer materials in the construction of buildings, are only a few of the many improved methods for adding to the well-being of the people. In the matter of fire-proof materials alone, the only wonder is that their use has not been made obligatory long before this, as their superiority and efficacy have been tested again and again, and mentioned in this journal. On July 25, 1888, the New Jersey Wire Cloth Company made an unusually severe test at Germantown Junction—noticed in our issue of July 30, 1888—which practically proved the perfect fire-proof qualities of their patent Stiffened Wire Lathing, and demonstrated to the architects, builders and insurance men present, that if proper materials were used, the immense yearly fire loss could be reduced to a minimum. While the cost of such materials may be somewhat more at first, the decrease in the rate of insurance on all buildings, considered fire-proof, more than compensates, in the long run, for the original increase of cost. As another evidence that this subject will not down, we are happy to chronicle the fact that the committee having in charge the erection of the new building for the Convent of the Sacred Heart, at Manhattanville, N. Y., whose former building was destroyed by fire, not long since, has concluded to run little or no risk of a like calamity in the future, and to this end determined to use, as far as possible, every known fire-proof material in the construction of the new building. When it came to the matter of lathing, the committee promptly sent an order to the New Jersey Wire Cloth Company for corrugated lathing, which order has just been filled by the firm, to the great satisfaction of all concerned.

It is to be regretted for the credit of our city that the present organization of the Real Estate Exchange is to be discontinued. It would have seemed ridiculous to have predicted its early failure of success when it was first organized. It would have seemed absurd to assert that a business interest representing yearly, nearly a hundred millions of dollars could find no practical use for organization, or no element of good or benefit as a national result. The opposition expressed at its inception to the introduction of business as a part of its purpose, made as we are inclined to believe from a fear on the part of a number of its influential members that if it possessed money-making features it would soon become a formidable competitor for a large real estate and financial business already controlled by several Title and Trust Companies, in which these gentlemen were interested as stockholders, of course, it was but natural to suppose that an opposition of this nature would have presented itself and the fact that such an opposition was sufficiently strong to exclude these business features was prima facie evidence that the Exchange did not represent in its membership the full strength of the real estate men of this city.

The mistake of not calling in the full subscription was a serious one.

The mistake of not thoroughly canvassing among the large and small members of the craft, gave the impression to many reputable though non-pretentious dealers in real estate that they were not wanted.

The mistake of managing the auction sales at the start and when the attendance was all that could be desired in such a manner as to place the broker representing the property foremost before the audience, practically discouraging buyers, figuratively marking each property offered for sale with the word "LIMITED."

The mistake of the advertising committee in selecting the "Jewish Exponent" and "Catholic Standard," as advertising mediums to the exclusion of the REAL ESTATE RECORD.

The mistake of supposing that a fraternal feeling could be engendered and that a social status entirely without sociability was all that was required.

We still believe that a Real Estate Exchange is needed in this city and we further believe that the want of success of the present organization does not settle the question by any means.

LICENSES GRANTED. JENKINS' "METALITHIC" PATENT

FOR PAVEMENTS AND FLOORS, 374,124,
and all purposes where durability united with beauty of appearance is desired.

Metalithic unites in its composition the best improvement over all the advantages claimed for other processes of paving and flooring.
The galvanized iron chain (spiked at each angle) used in its construction, neutralizes the effect of heat and cold, and thus prevents cracking and bulging, one of the most serious objections to other systems. This method has the unqualified indorsement of all Architects, Engineers, Contractors and individuals, firms and corporations who have used it, for strength, beauty and durability, and is rapidly superseding other systems wherever brought in competition. Licenses, Patent Rights and all processes for Cities, Counties and States, will be granted to responsible parties on liberal terms, by

.VOL. IV.—No. 32.

PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1889.

PRICE 15 CENTS.

As a matter of interest to those of our readers who own boilers we cite an experiment made by Colonel Potts, an Italian engineer, which is reported as having been a complete success in the removal of incrustation. The Colonel's experiment was on twenty horse power boiler, having 126 tubes and consisted of a weekly introduction of four and a half pounds of sugar, which he continued without interruption for four months, the result showed that the incrustation had been reduced to a mere film, which readily yielded to simple washing. It is stated that the same boiler had previously become heavily incrustated in six weeks.

AN explosion of mahogany dust and flour in a fur tannery in New York City the other day resulted in serious injuries to four men, of whom one will probably die. The dust was used in revolving drums for cleaning the skins, and the explosion was caused by one of the workmen holding a lighted candle near one of the drums while it was in motion. Apparently no amount of experience or repetition of warnings will teach some men common prudence in handling lights amid a cloud of organic dust.—New York Fire and Water.

ONE of the greatest hindrances, amounting even to actual loss, with which many of our architects are obliged to contend; is that thrust upon them by unscrupulous prospective builders. The injustice done is of such a nature as to make legal redress almost impossible. The story is told in a few words. A man wants to build a house for instance, he goes to an architect and by his manner leads him to believe that he has selected this particular gentleman to make his plans, although he does not positively order them, then another architect is visited in the same manner and often a third or fourth. In this manner he gets three or four plans to compare, and as he only uses one set, the others are left out in the cold with their trouble for their pains. The younger men of the profession are particularly liable to be caught, especially if their client is rich and influential.

If the above statement fits any particular person who is addicted to this species of highway robbery, or if he will send us his address on a postal card, we will only be too happy to return him a stamped envelope and be glad to print his reply.

That this story is not a slight of fancy could be absolutely proved by dozens of young men who have been duped in the manner mentioned. One case in particular is before us where two men made plans for one of the richest citizens of a town not a hundred miles from here, each thinking that he was the successful and much to be envied architect, building castles as how he was to be pushed to the front of his profession by the influence of the great man, these castles were like many others, only of air and the befooled dreamer awoke in time to sift himself from the ruins and find that he was out of pocket to the tune of several hundreds of dollars actually spent in wages and expenses.

We would like to see a test made of this or any similar case and in our present state of feeling would be willing to contribute our share towards the prosecution.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. AUG. 14, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

It is claimed that $800,000,000 were expended in the erection of new buildings in the United States during 1888. We do not know who the authority is for the statement, but it is going the rounds of the building and real estate organs of the country unchallenged.

Supposing the statement to be true, we doubt it, and estimating the population of this country at sixty millions, it would show an investment of $13.33 for every man, woman or child in the United States.

It is now said that considerable of the opposition to the continuance of the Real Estate Exchange arose from the fact, that its rules and regulations were entirely too stringent against the questionable practices of some real estate men to suit either their methods or pockets. The custom that has heretofore prevailed, and now exists, to some extent, of charging a commission, when possible, to both buyer and seller, was not sanctioned by the Exchanges, and was regarded as just cause for expulsion, as it should have been.

THE alleys and small streets of this city, particularly where the population is the thickest, should be paved with asphalt. Cleanliness should be encouraged as much as possible everywhere, and the surest and easiest way to encourage it is by making the labor of cleaning as light as possible. The paving of small streets with heavy blocks of granite is a stupid piece of business to say the least; travel does not justify it, neither is such a pavement as easily cleaned as asphalt.

THERE is some little anxiety expressed as to the fall building and real estate business, some few over conservative people are expressing fears already and predicting bad business and other serious consequences as a result of the heavy building done during the first six months of this year. There is really no cause for alarm as far as we can see. It is generally conceded that most builders are in good financial shape, as a rule in fact even in better shape than last year. Business is dull and there is no use denying it, so also was it dull last summer and the summer before. During the lull of last summer there was much head-shaking and many tears expressed, and yet during the fall of last year a fair business was done and the spring of 1889 even astonished the most sanguine, both as to building operations and the sales of real estate. To give the figures, our tables for the four weeks of July, 1888, ending on the 7th, 14th, 21st and 28th, show that there were 715 operations and 196 alterations and additions, while the corresponding weeks for July, 1889, ending on the 6th, 13th, 20th and 27th, shows 576 operations with 169 alterations and additions, or 239 less operations than during the same months last year, a falling off of 50 per cent. As to conveyances during the same weeks of July, 1888, there were 1,046 conveyances made, representing a total value of $4,892,737.73. The sales at auction during that time represented the value of $1,316,151, against which we quote our figures for the same weeks of this year, which show 1,154 conveyances (an increase over last year of 98), representing in value $6,687,861.89, or a gain in value of $1,795,122.16. The sales at auction during the same month of 1889 being $130,760, representing a falling off of only $835. Thus it will be seen that although construction work fell off one half yet there were found purchasers for more houses during July than last year, and although the number is but 98 yet the increase in the value of the structures was .366 per cent. If this means anything it means that our people are in better business shape and are buying a better character of houses than last year.

ALTHOUGH Philadelphia justly claims to be in the lead in regard to providing homes for all classes of people, there is a class which has, as yet, received no attention, as far as can be learned, from the many prominent and shrewd builders and capitalists of this city who are on the watch for safe and profitable investment for money. We refer to the large number of self-supporting women, who, from the necessity of earning a living, are debarred from the comforts that are obtained no where else but in one's own home. Quite a number of "homes," "hotels for women," and other establishments of a like ilk have been established from time to time, with the best intentions in the world, but a canvass among the women who are expected to profit by them, reveals the fact, that they fail to supply the place of a home, and lack, in many particulars, just the conditions which go to make a place attractive to a woman of good sense, sound judgment and the independence of character, which comes of being self-supporting. Women of this class want homes, but cannot endure the limitations, the restrictions, and the espionage, that is thought necessary by many who, thus far, have tried to meet this demand by "homes and hotels for women."

English builders and capitalists have grasped the idea and put it into execution with the happiest results to themselves and their tenants. A corporation composed of men and women called the "Ladies' Residential Dwelling Company" was organized at London, England, some time ago, whose object is the erection of dwelling houses for educated women who are compelled to earn their own living, and to live in lodgings. This company has already erected a number of these dwellings in Gower street and Sloan Gardens, London, which have, thus far, paid handsomely on the capital invested. These dwellings, which are arranged in flats, containing from two to four rooms, provided with conveniences for housekeeping on a small scale, rent at prices ranging from ten to twenty-five dollars per month. There is also a large dining room connected with each house in which the tenants may obtain meals if desired. The success of these dwellings has been so signal, that arrangements have been completed for the erection of another block of them in Hamptead, and the opinion is that many more will be erected in the course of the year. In Philadelphia, where the area is large, and where thousands of women would be glad to avail themselves of the advantages of a quiet home-life offered by such dwellings; a company with a like object would stand a very chance of being as successful as the one now in operation at London England.

"A distinguished English sanitarian, Mr. Edward Chadwick, has said that he could build a city which would give any desired death rate from fifty, or any number higher than fifty, to five or perhaps even less than five in a thousand annually. The president of the Health Department of the British Social Science Association at an annual meeting some years ago, expressed his unqualified confidence in the feasibility of Mr. Chadwick's proposition. This means nothing less than that the death-rate, within these wide limits, from five or less, to fifty or more per thousand annually, depends on the degree of attention paid to certain public sanitary regulations." FRANCES EMILY WHITE, M. D.

THE Semi-Annual statement of the Real Estate Investment Company shows its assets to be on July 1st 1889, $378,513.07, of which amount $196,458.52 is invested in real estate, and $80,564.04 in other investments. Its loan account shows $29,150.00 while its cash balance amounts to $66,401.80. Its deposit in the banking department amount to $135,007.78. The amount placed to credit of surplus though small, $3,579.05, is really a handsome showing for so young a company after paying a three per cent. semi-annual dividend on its capital stock. At the annual meeting of the stockholders, the Board of Directors was authorized to issue 50,000 shares of additional stock, which at $5 per share, the par value, will furnish $250,000 additional working capital. The stockholders being allowed to subscribe for the number of shares equal to their present holdings. The total net earnings of the company for the preceding six months were $15,643.57.

THE members of the New York branch of the Skylight and Cornice Maker's Union certainly look upon their strike in a very philosophical and business-like way, first by sending their unarranged members on a summer vacation, each one pledging himself to leave the city during the summer; second, by declaring in effect that the strike is of no consequence, inasmuch as there is only enough work to be done them during a part of the year, and that they might as well anticipate the dull season and take their vacation now when they can enjoy themselves. The proposition submitted to the bosses embraces the following demands.

"1. That $3 be the minimum wages for nine hours' work on the five week days and eight hours on Saturday.

"2. That the walking delegate be admitted in every shop where members of the Cornice and Skylight Makers Union are working.

Effect of the Atmosphere on Bricks.

Atmospheric influences upon bricks, tiles, and other building materials obtained by the burning of plastic clays depends very much on the chemical composition of the clays and on the degree of burning. Thus any distinct portions of limestone present in them would be converted into quicklime in the kiln, and when the bricks were thoroughly wetted would expand in such a manner as to disintegrate the mass. If the clay used is too poor—that is to say, if it contains an excess of sand—the bricks will not become sufficiently fused, and upon exposure to the weather their constituent parts will separate. It is to be observed that in bricks, as in stones, decomposition does not take place with the greatest rapidity where constant moisture exists, but rather where, from the absence of capillarity, variable according to the moisture furnished by the atmosphere, either directly or indirectly, a series of alternations of dryness and humidity prevail. The foundation walls of buildings do not in fact suffer so much in the parts immediately upon the ground as they do in those of a height from one to three feet, according to the permeability of the materials employed. When bricks made of clay containing free silica are laid in mortar, and moisture can pass freely from either one or the other, it may be observed that the edges in contact become harder than the body of the bricks. No doubt this arises from the formation of a silicate of lime and alumina, the lime being furnished by the passage of the water through the bed of mortar.—London Architect

THAT there is a decided difference between twedleedum and twedledee is shown in a little item picked up in a country paper. The item in question read as follows: "One of the Jots owned by the Sunday-school at Lindenwold is to be raffled off at Jenkins' Hall, the proceeds to be devoted to building a new church. This is twedledee's side of the case. If twedleedum were to speak, he would, no doubt, call raffling a species of gambling and unworthy to be practiced by a body whose position leads them to combat with this and similar vices. There are many men who will take a chance at a church fair who would be horrified to put his dollar on the red or black of the roulette table or in the seductive poker game, yet he pockets the worthless pincushion or the festive monkey on its stick, and blindly imagines that he is helping along the good work, forgetting that a principle is being violated and abused.

Can twedledee tell why the law is so strict in regard to gambling? If he does not know, it would be well to hunt up the law on the subject, and after that to go away off in the woods after he comes from church and try to find out what is meant by turning the house of prayer into a den of thieves.

IT IS WITH pleasure that we notice the advent of another entrance into the profession of architecture, and the pleasure is deepened by the fact that it is a woman, and the only one in this city who has chosen this useful occupation. Thoroughly believing in the right of every individual to earn his or her living as seems most proper to them, we hope that she may have an abundance of work to do, and do it in such a manner that the woman be obliterated in the work, which will help to eradicate the tottering barrier—the divine right of man only, to enter into the active duties of a business career.

During the past decade women have entered into most all of the avocations of life, and with results that prove that they are not out of place; and, in many instances doing the task better even than men, especially where a quickness of touch or blending of color is required.

Minerva Parker does not come before the public with the plea that she is a woman, and therefore to be helped and supported, but as fully prepared to work as the masculinity of the laborers, armed with a diploma from the Franklin Institute and much study in the School of Design, the Industrial Art School and St. Joseph's Convent, at Dubuque, as well as receiving especial instruction under George Lambdin in coloring, and practical work in the offices of a number of architects for several years.

Energy and push, generally met with success, and as there is every evidence that she possesses both, the latter is evidently within grasp.

ON Friday of last week an agreement was entered into between various lot owners on the Chester branch of the Reading Railroad and the latter corporation which gives the residents of the long disused railroad accommodations, for twenty years the struggle has been going on and lots have been purchased at Paschalville, Elmwood and other suburban places with a guarantee from the various land companies that trains would run in a few weeks after purchase, when the Reading Company would not adhere to these various promises, it of course produced numerous complications and the land companies were obliged to refund the money in many instances.

The total number of lots sold in this section was 4,500, amounting in value to $900,000, and stopping the erection of 2,000 houses valued at $4,000,000. A mandamus was issued compelling the railroad company to show cause why they should not run passenger trains on the Chester branch. The Attorneys, Messrs. Goodbread and Newlin took the ground that the short line was a new road and that unless passenger trains were run over the old road it reverted to the commonwealth. The Attorney General coincided with this view and was about to take proceedings when the matter was settled by an agreement which provides for the first year, at least four passenger trains each way shall be run daily. In fact, five will be run. After the first year at least two each way must be run so long as the road exists. The residents are to pay $10,000 in quarterly installments to the company, so as to provide stations. These stations will be located at the following points: Gray's Ferry, Gibson's Point, Bell Road, Eighty-fourth street and Corbindale. The trains will not run below Darby Creek.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

ALTERATION OF CONTRACT.—An alteration in a written contract which does not change the legal effect of the instrument, is immaterial.

The interlineation of the word "before," in a contract which provided that the order should be "subject to be countermanded by June 15th," is immaterial. A contract to complete work by a certain time, means that it should be done before that time. Publishing Co. vs. Aldine Press, March 14th, 1889.

COMMON CARRIERS.—Where a vendor exercises his right of stopping in transitu, his action does not amount merely to a rescission of the contract of sale, but to a resumption of possession, enabling him to insist upon the vendor's lien which he had waived by delivery to the carrier.

The carrier, in such case, may claim a lien upon the goods for his freight charges and expenses, but has no lien for an unpaid balance of freight due by the consignee upon prior shipments of similar goods by the same vendor. Railroad Co. vs. Oil Works, April 10th, 1889.

INSURANCE LIFE.—Where a party took out a policy of insurance in a New York Company payable to his wife, and "in case of the death of the said Diana Saut, before the deceased of the said Daniel P. Saut, the amount of the said insurance shall be payable after her death to her children, for their use, or to their guardian, if under age," and the husband and wife afterward executed an assignment of the policy to a creditor, the wife having died in the lifetime of the assured, her children will be entitled to the insurance money in preference to the assignee.

The assignment of the policy passed whatever the wife had, and the extent of it clearly appeared upon the face of the policy. Her assignment put the assignee in no better condition and gave him no greater interest than she had.

She not surviving her husband, it was payable to her children. Brown's Appeal, March 13th 1889.

MECHANICS LIENS.—Mechanics liens are of two classes, arising under different acts of Assembly; they are purely statutory in their creation, and they are required to conform strictly to the provisions of its own law.

A mechanics claim was filed against "all that certain two-story brick building with two-story back building or addition attached," etc. The said sum "being a balance of a debt contracted for work and labor done and material furnished in and about the erection and construction of a two-story back building * * * * * according to the terms of the contract hereto annexed." The said contract showed that the work done was an alteration and to an old building.

Held, that this lien was fatally defective, and was properly stricken off.

It was not good under either of the classes of mechanics' liens. It purports on its face to be for a new structure, but that is contradicted by the fact that it is filed against the old as well as the new building, and by the further fact that the annexed contract shows that the work was done as alterations and repairs. Morrison vs. Henderson, March 27th, 1889.

MORTGAGE.—The holder of a legal title, to real estate which is in effect a mortgage, may in turn mortgage that title, and by virtue thereof the mortgages takes as security all his mortgages title, subject only to the equity of redemption existing against such mortgagor. Brooke vs. Borden, March 6th 1889.

Property Owners Have a Right To Connect With Main Sewers.

The question as to the rights of property owners to make house connections with main sewers is finally settled by an opinion given by City Solicitor Warwick, who said that under the ordinances of May 11th, 1886 and of March 9th, 1887, applicants have the right to a permit after paying the proper charges. The City Solicitor in commenting upon the ordinances, says in answer to a letter from Director Wagner.

"That a main sewer like the Hart Creek sewer, sixteen and a half feet in diameter, constructed of solid masonry three feet in thickness, draining large areas, and costing hundreds of thousands of dollars, can be broken into a numerous places along the line thereof by the owners of property who have not contributed anything by way of frontage charges towards the construction of said sewer, is a fact pointing to much-needed municipal legislation."

"It is the opinion of the Chief Engineer and Surveyor, as appears by Mr. Snedley's letter which you have enclosed, that such connections cannot be made without endangering the stability and safety of the sewer."

"As a strict matter of law, I am of opinion, however, that the ordinance now existing, authorizes such connections to be made."

Booth and Flinn are said to be interested in the project. About two hundred dwellings will probably be erected. Mr. Stewart has already taken out a permit for fifteen dwellings, to be erected on Negley and Stanton avenues, to cost about $75,000. J. F. Mader will erect a five-story stone and brick structure to cost $22,000.

and all purposes where durability united with beauty of appearance is desired.

Metalithic unites in its composition a vast improvement over all the advantages claimed for other processes of paving and flooring.

The galvanized iron chain (spiked at each angle) used in its construction, neutralizes the effect of heat and cold, and thus prevents cracking and bulging, one of the most serious objections to other systems. This method has the unqualified endorsement of all Architects, Engineers, Contractors and individuals, firms and corporations who have used it, for strength, beauty and durability, and is rapidly superseding other systems wherever brought in competition. Licenses, Patent Rights and all processes for 14 cities, 1 company and States, will be granted to responsible parties on liberal terms, by addressing:

The newest Heath Hats (London) are at hand. Every make that we are to have is here.

Knox's Derby and Silk Hats are as near the top as any. You never see that name in a mean Hat.

Best Philadelphia makes too. Jumble them all up and you might not hit the Heath or Knox at the first or second choice. When a certain point of Hat goodness is passed how many of you make up your minds after a look in the crown?

Silk Hats, $4 to $8.

Derby Hats, $1.50 to $5.

All the other things that help to comfortably and perfectly dress the man.

THE West Philadelphia Title and Trust Company recently organized will locate at Fortieth and Lancaster avenue, West Philadelphia. The business of the company will embrace Title Insurance, Real Estate and general Banking business, and the purchase of homes for subscribers on a basis similar to that of the United Security Company. The new organization is composed of strong business men, nearly all of whom are residents of West Philadelphia.

THE Baltimore Manufacturers' Record, reports the purchase of 70,000 acres of picked mineral and timber lands by New York capitalists; the proposed construction of two additional furnaces at Bessemer, Ala.; an enlargement of locomotive works at Richmond, Va., to cost $750,000; a $1,000,000 machine company in Louisville; a $100,000 fibre manufacturing company in Texas; a sale of 8,000 acres of coal land in West Virginia, for $70,000 cash; a barbed wire manufactory in Louisiana; and other similar new undertakings and enlargement of old undertakings.

WHAT are known by the name of iron bricks have been satisfactorily introduced as paving material in some parts of Germany. These are made by mixing equal parts of finely-ground red argillaceous slate and finely-ground clay, with 5 per cent. of iron ore. The ingredients thus mixed together are then moistened with a solution of 25 per cent. of sulphate of iron, to which fine iron ore is added until the mass shows a consistency of 38 degrees Baume. After this the compound is shaped in a press, dried, dipped once more in a nearly concentrated solution of finely-ground iron ore, and then baked in an oven for about forty-eight hours in a reducing flame.—Real Estate Bulletin.

It is authoritatively stated that there are in the United States, at the present time, 165,000 miles of railroad in constant operation. During 1888, 475,000,000 people were transported, and 600,000,000 tons of freight; 1,000,000 employees were constantly engaged, 30,000 locomotives, 21,000 passenger cars, 7,000 baggage cars, and 1,000,000 freight cars were used in transportation work. $3,000,000,000 represents the capital invested in construction and equipment alone, besides which, there is expended yearly for labor and supplies the enormous sum of $6,000,000,000. When it is considered that three decades back, railroads were practically unknown in this country, the work accomplished in railroad construction seems enormous. In 1830 the population of the United States was but 12,000,000, and the wealth of the country was estimated at less than $100,000,000. At present, with an estimated population of 65,000,000, the aggregate wealth is said to be over $56,000,000,000.

PENNSYLVANIA produced over 16,000,000 barrels of petroleum last year and Ohio 10,000,000.

THE U. S. Government intend running out and permanently locating the boundary line between Alaska and British America. It will take at least three summers to accomplish the work.

THE Secretary of the Navy has decided that enlisted Chinese servants in the employ of the officers of the United States Navy will not be admitted to the United States upon the expiration of their term of enlistment, if they were enlisted outside of the United States.

A Dwelling House Elevator.

A Berlin inventor has proposed a plan of "a simple and inexpensive elevator for private dwellings," which "Building" thinks at least worthy of mention, and describes it as follows: It is on the principle of an inclined railway, and the motive power is furnished by the city water, which is applied in the cellar: each flight has its separate chair, so that for example, one person can ascend from the first to the second story while another is on his way from the second to the third, or still another is descending from the fifth to the fourth. The chair, being only the width of a human body, requires but little space, and still leaves a free passage for any who wish to walk up or down, instead of riding. It is set in motion by a simple pressure upon one of its arms, while after it has been used it slides back to the bottom step, its descent being regulated in such a manner that the carrying of a passenger is a matter of entire safety. The motive power is, of course, more or less expensive, according to the cost of water, this being, it is stated, in Berlin at the rate of a little more than one-tenth of a cent only for each trip.

HYGIENIC PAVEMENTS.—While our city savants are considering the subject of durable pavements, they should also consider the hygienic qualities of the material used. In 1878, over 12,000 people died in New Orleans from yellow fever, and it is stated as a fact, that a large proportion of that number contracted the disease from the germs held by the absorbent pavements in use at that time in that city. Where asphalt is used, there are no crevices to hold dirt. In cobble-stone pavements especially, there are innumerable crevices which hold the dust and other organic matter in summer and pollute the air by its exhalations in damp weather. Another fact should be seriously considered. Stone pavements, as ordinarily laid absorb this organic matter, which festering in the earth, becomes a breeder of disease. There is a serious question for all City Councils to consider besides the one of a few dollars difference in cost, and that is, what pavement is the best, in a hygienic sense, for the welfare of our people?—National Builder.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. AUG. 21, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

It is said that the iron trade presents a more encouraging outlook than for months back. An increase in the price of Bessemer pig has already been made of one dollar per ton.

An air of uncertainty hangs about the future of Norristown, Pa. Factories closing, idle men, 300 empty houses, makes the probability of the building boom continuing, extremely doubtful.

The manufactures of lime have experienced severe loss owing to the heavy rains, hundreds of car loads of building lime have been slacked while en route, and rendered worthless for building purposes, most of it having been sold for agricultural uses, at one-third its former value.

ONE cent letter postage, or a postal card of some practical good, is what is needed, the latter could be made with a flap to fold and seal, it would command respect from the fact that impertinent and curious people could not read its contents if they would.

SALES of real estate at auction are extremely limited in number, in fact but two properties realizing a total of $27,850 have been sold at auction during the first half of the present month, and yet as dull as real estate may seem in the auction line, August for 1889 is thus far just $27,850 ahead of August 1888.

It is stated that Pittsburgh glass manufacturers discriminate against this city to the extent that a prominent saloon keeper, on Second street, boasts that he can go to New York, purchase a bill of glassware, pay the freight to Philadelphia, and save money. Yet the poor Philadelphia fools drink his rum, believing that they are supporting one of Philadelphia's prominent institutions.

The youngest child now living within the realms of this city will probably not live long enough to see the last of that relic of antiquity known as the brick sidewalk. The councilman with enterprise and cunning enough to elip successfully through both branches of councils a bill forever prohibiting the relaying of brick for sidewalk purposes, would confer a greater blessing upon coming generations than he could possibly imagine. It is said that Mayor Fitler would sign such a bill if passed.

AN immense area of fine country lies north of this city waiting for future development. It would be a good plan for the magnates of the northwestern elevated to submit a proposition to councils guaranteeing indemnity to property owner for damages to their property. There is no reason why this road should not be built outside of the injury and great financial loss it would cause those who cannot protect themselves. Protect the property owners against loss and injury first, then push the work to completion and end the agony.

THE debt of the Dominion of Canada is placed at the enormous sum of $258,778,656, or $56 per head of its entire population. The debt has increased since 1879, fifty-five per cent., and one hundred and fifty-four per cent. since 1869. Canada's indebtedness to England in 1869, was $75,847,175, ten years later it had increased to $128,307,409, twenty years later, or in 1889, it had increased to $188,713,935. It is said that much of the debt is due to the construction of the Canada Pacific and Inter-colonial railroads and in maintaining the canal.

BUILDERS frequently make the mistake of too much economy, too much cheapness, too much indifference to elaboration, ginger-bread work as it is called may be of very little importance in the way of adding to the worth of a house, but its pleasing to the eye and certainly becomes very attractive if not over-done. Builders seem to forget that their houses for sale are precisely the same as any other class of merchandise which must be attractive to sell well. The man who seeks taste and beauty and exercises good judgment in the selection of location generally finds ready buyers and fair profits. There is as much art in building houses for the people, as in any thing else. The artistic builders like the artistic dressmaker generally find customers plenty.

The heavy rains have not only been a great injury in the way of financial loss to builders having new work under way, but they have delayed work so much that in many instances builders will be unable to complete before freezing weather sets in; more than half the houses they contemplated erecting at the beginning of the year.

The delay has been so great in some instances, that much discouragement is felt, and this in a measure accounts for the great falling off in building during July. It is even thought by some of the shrewdest operators that the crop of new houses this year will not be more than half of what it would have been had the heavy rains not occurred. This is held by many to be a good thing, as there is now not likely to be the glut there would have been, had the weather remained fine.

A PROMINENT Market street grocer says that Philadelphia manufacturers are largely to blame for the preference given to other cities by wholesale buyers. He says that he can buy, and does buy, in Boston, Mass., a popular brand of canned lard, put up by a Philadelphia firm, for one cent per pound less than he can buy the same goods for here. He can also buy, and does buy, in the same city, crackers made by a Philadelphia firm, at a price twenty per cent. cheaper than from the manufacturer. He pays the freight on these goods to Philadelphia, and saves money.

Another concern, we are informed, sends its productions, that are sold to Western trade, first by water to Boston, the goods are then re-shipped to the point they are intended to reach. By this means the firm is enabled to meet the prices offered by competitors, as the freight rates from Boston are very much lower than from Philadelphia.

Bon Voyage.

Mr. J. W. Earl who has been for several years the efficient manager of the Pennsylvania business interests of Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, manufacturers of the popular Remington Type Writer, has accepted the exclusive control and sale of that instrument in Great Britain. Mr. Earl with his family sailed on the Lord Gough for London, this Wednesday morning from Philadelphia.

Mr. Earl represents the highest type of an American business gentleman, straightforward and reliable, intellectually strong, able to say no and mean it, he certainly takes with him the best wishes of all who know him.

We personally wish him a business success and a pleasant voyage.

B. F. Glenn & Son's New Departure.

The Husted Investment Company, of Kansas City, Kansas, has placed its Eastern business in the hands of the old time real estate house of B. F. Glenn & Son, 555 N. Seventeenth street. The capital stock of the Husted Company is represented at $350,000 paid in, $500,000 being the limit to which it can increase its paid up capital should it be deemed necessary. The object of the company is the investment of money on real estate security, in a section embracing a radius of a hundred miles from the two Kansas Cities. This is a new departure for Glenn & Son and should prove successful.

Metalithic unites in its composition a vast improvement over all the advantages claimed for other processes of paving and flooring.

The galvanized iron chain spiked at each angle used in its construction, neutralizes the effect of heat and cold, and thus prevents cracking and bulging, one of the most serious objections to other systems. This method has the unequalled indorsement of all Architects, Engineers, Contractors and individuals, firms and corporations who have used it, for strength, beauty and durability, and is rapidly superseding other systems wherever brought in competition. Licenses, Patent Rights and all processes for Cities, Counties and States, will be granted to responsible parties on liberal terms, by addressing:

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

DEED.—The words "the said piece of ground to be used for milling and manufacturing purposes only," in a deed conveying a tract of land and a water right, are not a covenant on the part of the grantee to erect a mill of any kind upon the property.

A grantor has no legal right to complain because his grantee does not exercise all the rights and privileges which he purchased and paid for.

A covenant to use property for manufacturing purposes, implies the right to use it for all purposes incident to such object.—Madore's Appeal, May 14, 1889.

FIXTURES.—In determining the question whether articles attached as realty, are really or personally, the articles being of such an equivocal character as to require the verdict of a jury to determine the question, the object and intention of the owner is to be regarded and is admissible in evidence.—Benedict vs. Marsh, May 8, 1889.

LIMITED PARTNERSHIPS.—In order to constitute a valid organization under the Limited Partnership Act of June 2d, 1874, it is necessary that the association entering upon its business life should have in its treasury the capital or so much thereof as the recorded certificate endows it with at the outset, and the balance remaining unpaid, in accordance with the terms of the certificate should appear upon the stock subscription book, so that a creditor, or any one interested to know, can determine whether, and to what extent the new business agency is entitled to credit. If no capital has been put into such association, and there is no actual cash with which to begin business, the association has no right to record the certificate; and to do so is a fraud upon the law and upon the public. A portion of the capital must, under the Act, be actually paid in at the time the certificate is filed, and unless this is done, the recording of the certificate is not authorized by law, and can give no business life to the association.—Hill et al vs. Stettler et al, February 25, 1889.

NOTES.—In an action against an endorser of a promissory note upon his contract of endorsement, the plaintiff must show the defendants technical liability as endorser or fail in his suit.

A note which bears upon its face a memorandum in the following words, "This note is given for advancements, and it is the understanding it will be renewed at maturity," is not an absolute, unconditional contract to pay money at maturity, and consequently is not a negotiable instrument; hence the endorser thereof is not liable to the holder on his contract of endorsement.—Bank vs. Piolet, March 21 1889.

MUNICIPAL CLAIM.—Where an ordinance is passed by City Councils authorizing the paving of a street, and subject to previous general ordinances providing for the assessment of benefits, according to the foot front rule, the question whether the property is or is not rural, and whether therefore such rule is or is not constitutionally applicable is to be determined by the condition of the property at the time the actual paving is done and not by its condition at the time of the passage of the ordinance.—Keith vs. City of Philadelphia, April 10, 1889.

PARTNERSHIP.—Upon the dissolution of a partnership by the death of one its members, the right to recover the assets of the firm belongs to the surviving partner, and not to the representative of the deceased partner. When one member of a firm receives assets of the firm during his lifetime, his partner cannot ordinarily maintain assumpsit against him or his estate, but must resort to a bill for an account or an action of account render.

But where the partnership is in a single and finished transaction, assumpsit will lie at the suit of one partner against his co-partner.—Kutz vs. Dreibels, March 5, 1889.

WILL.—Where a testator by his will provided that after the payment of his debts and funeral expenses, "all my property consisting of bonds, mortgages, ground rents, stocks and personal effects in the State of Pennsylvania be sold," and the fund divided among the children of his sister and adopted daughters, a lot of ground in Pennsylvania will not pass under this provision of the will. The words "all my property consisting," etc., do not mean all the testator's property in Pennsylvania.

In ascertaining a testator's intention, the words he has chosen must be read according to their plain and ordinary meaning, and the interpretation must be in conformity with the meaning of the words rather than with some supposed meaning of the testator.

While a testator is to be presumed as intending not to die intestate, yet the heir is not to be disin-herited except by express words or necessary implication.—Howes Appeal, April 10, 1889.

THE new House of Refuge, now in course of erection, at Glen Mills, by G. F. Payne & Co., the builders, will consist of four main buildings: the administration and reception buildings, the chapel and workshops. The other houses are schools and dining-hall, boiler-house, hospital, and various other buildings, which include cottages capable of containing one thousand persons.

The system upon which the institution is to be run is known as the "Open Reform," moral suasion is used rather than force, and the inmates, who are usually taken from the lower walks of life, are to be taught farming and various other employments. Instead of treating them as prisoners, and keeping them behind bars and walls, they will be housed in comfortable cottages, under the care of a house father and mother. Mr. Cope of the firm of Cope & Stewardson, the architects, made a special journey to various institutions in England and on the continent, and brought home with him the best features of many of them, which have been incorporated in the plans.

The buildings will all be of uniform style of architecture. The material to be used is Avondale lime-stone up to the water table, above this red brick, with caps and sills of Wyoming Valley blue-stone.

The administration building, upon which work has just been started, is 132 feet front by 63 feet in depth and three stories high, with a clock-tower and a basement. The kitchen and store rooms to be in the latter; the first floor to be used for the superintendent's dining room, parlor and offices, for the resident physician, and other apartments. The dormitories are to occupy the second and third floors.

The reception building is to be considerably larger than the others, its dimensions are 154 feet long, with two wings, each 108 feet deep. Playrooms and lavatories occupying the basement; dining, assembly rooms and officers quarters on the first floor, the other two floors are also to be used as sleeping apartments.

While the chapel is not so large as the other buildings, it is not the least handsome. Its length is 151 feet, and the depth 69 feet, the basement to be used for plays and various amusements. This institution, together with the Williamson School, ought to, and no doubt will, decimate the ranks in the large army of vice, which is principally made up of the youth of our cities, through the want of proper training. To use almost the last words of the late philanthropic Isaac Williamson, "The boys must be taught to work, and not to idle; they must work, work."

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. AUG. 28, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

NOTWITHSTANDING the lamentable failure of success on the part of the Philadelphia Real Estate Exchange, steps are now being taken to organize an Exchange of that kind in Pittsburgh.

It is stated seemingly, on good authority that John D. Rockefeller, of the Standard Oil Company has a yearly income of $9,000,000 per year. Mr. H. M. Flagler also of the Standard, who is quoted as the authority for the above statement admits that his own income now amounts to $3,000,000 yearly, and that Colonel Oliver Paine, another Standard magnate is really worth $22,000,000.

Thus it is that through the peculiar organization of things, a few brainy gentlemen are enabled to levy a small tribute upon each of the American people and thereby accumulate fortunes that were formerly associated with the magnificence of Kings. Surely these trusts are a great thing for those who glean the shekels.

SOUTH STREET as well as the streets that intersect it north and south need attention. This section of the city is not only thickly populated, but a large share of it is inhabited by a class of people who require considerable urging to keep them up to even a moderate state of healthful cleanliness. The city sets a very poor example to these people in its neglect of the streets and alleys on which they live. Vigorous sanitary measures enforced without fear or favor together with a watchful care over the contractors having the street cleaning to do, would materially enhance the comfort of the poor while lessening the chances of sickness among them. It was the poorer sections of Chicago, that Long John Wentworth when mayor of that city used to personally inspect with the view of seeing for himself just how matters stood, but mayors of the Wentworth type are very scarce. Philadelphia has not had one for years.

"OLD houses dont rent well," is heard every where among the real estate agents.

Why should they, when new houses of the highest type for convenience and comfort can be obtained at about the same monthly rental that is asked for the old?

A lively stable keeper with nothing but crow bait horses and rattle-trap wagons to hire out, could hardly hope to hold his own against an opposition stable with first-class turn outs at popular prices.

As much common sense is needed in the management of houses intended for rental as in any other business, and yet owners will suffer their houses to go to decay and then whine and complain at the bare suggestion of repairs and improvements, and still wonder why the agent can't obtain paying and respectable tenants.

Put the old timers from cellar to garret. Tear out the old dirt be-grimed wood work and cock roach receptacles. Re-construct hard wood interior work. Cemented cellar floors, new and improved heaters, sanitary plumbing, handy closets, stained glass windows, a bit of ginger bread work inside and out and take our word for it there will be no trouble finding paying tenants and staying ones.

AMERICANS have been so accustomed to accept as a fact beyond controversy the oft repeated statement, extolling the happy lot of the workman in this country in contradistinction to the very unhappy and undesirable lot of his brother abroad, that it comes in the nature of a shock to learn that some workmen, who certainly are qualified to know the true status of this vexed question, are about to shake the dust of the United States from their feet, and to return to their old homes in England, where they claim they can do better, in the long run, than in this country. On being approached on the subject, various reasons have been forthcoming as an explanation of this decision on their part, which reasons may throw some light on the cause of the dissatisfaction now existing in many communities between the employer and the employed. One of the most prominent of these men, Alfred Barber, ex-Worthy foreman of L. A. 9123 Division No. 5, has been in this country nine years, during which time he has been employed near California, Pa., and has been working in mines since childhood. In leaving this country and returning to England he claims he can do better for himself and for his family, because in the latter country, miners are paid by the yard and ton, both in entries and rooms. In England he averaged five shillings, or one dollar and twenty-five cents per day, for seven hour's work, besides which in the fifteen years he labored before coming to this country, he never lost a day by the shutting up of the mines on account of alleged dull times, lack of trade or overproduction. At the end of each week, he was paid his money in cash, and such an institution as a "pluck me" store was unheard of, so that the money earned, was laid out to the best advantage, and no threatened discharge hung over his head like the suspended sword of Damocles, ready to fall if he failed to return the major portion of his earnings to the company's store, in return for which he received the necessities of life, at a largely increased price, because there was no competition, or if there was, he did not dare to take advantage of it.

In this country Mr. Barber claims he averaged one dollar and fifty cents per day for ten hour's work, but was compelled to endure enforced idleness, which increased in length of time each year, and "each year the prosperous season," during which time he labored "growing beautifully less," besides which he was not always paid in cash, and was obliged to patronize the company store or seek work elsewhere. These are the plain statements of a practical, intelligent workman, who knows what he is talking about, and they should carry weight to convince thoughtful people that a great wrong exists somewhere, which should be brought to light and rectified. It is a fact, that can not be disputed, that gross injustice is practiced by the large companies year after year towards their employees, particularly in the reduction of wages at the least intimation of a dull season, which reduction, however, is seldom or never followed by an advance at a revival of trade; the shutting down of the mines as soon as there is any danger of overproduction, thus throwing a large class of people out of employment, which is in itself demoralizing and dangerous, both to the individual unemployed and the more fortunate working communities; and last but not least, the manner of payment, which is more frequently than otherwise, in the way of orders on the company's store, than which no surer way was ever invented by man—or the devil—to encourage recklessness and extravagance in the manner of living, among the very classes that should of all others do business on a strictly cash basis.

Now that the newspaper gabble about the impurities of the Schuylkill water is about ended, there should be an honest investigation of the subject by other than paid experts, enlisted in the interest of water companies, and the question fairly discussed by journals above the suspicion of having received stock or other valuable subsidies. The question is a vital one, none greater, so far as the future development of the city is concerned. We want a continued increase of population to fill our houses and an increased volume of business to bear a share of the burthens of taxation. The city must grow; improvements must go on; manufacturers must be encouraged, and altogether a decided change of policy is needed, that we may off-set the great advantages offered by other cities to induce our manufacturers to leave us. Old foggy conservatism must now be throttled, and a speedy estoppel put upon our penny wise and pound foolish allegiance to selfish railroad corporations, which regard the city in about the same light as they look upon a back village on their main line. Councils and councilmen wait looking after. If the policy of the railroads is to be inimical to the city and the people, and a subservient, cowardly system of legislation in their interests, is to be observed, an earnest and bitter fight should be made against every future candidate who has not a decided and well-established record against railroad aggression. The merchants of this city can make themselves felt in a hundred ways, to the great advantage of the people, as well as to the prosperity of their own business, and the popularity of the city as a distributing point for the West and South. The mills are here, the capital is here, and the energy and enterprise necessary to push things—though latent, or apathetic—are also here, and plenty of both, to be felt, if once made operative. A few of Hood, Bombright & Co.'s salesmen have started the ball rolling, and by concerted effort it can be kept going. There is no sense in sending the productions of Philadelphia mills to New York to be sold, when, with a little effort, and the expenditure of a little money, a market could be made at our own doors. We owe New York nothing, and we are quite capable of entering the lists with her in a fight for the supremacy in trade, provided the Pennsylvania Railroad is made to understand that it must remove the impediments placed in the way of trade coming to this city, or failing in which, capital and enterprise will settle the question by the construction of a competing line to the West. The proposition may seem Utopian at present, but with earnest men everything is possible.

The future is in our own hands; we can, as a people, remain as we have been, the victims of railroad and political cupidity, or we can inaugurate such a popular warfare against these influences of oppression and depression, as to enable us to dictate such terms and demands as our business men, when fully organized, may consider best for the interests of the city. This is a better and surer way to recover our lost commerce than by the removal of a few islands in the Delaware, the presence of which will hardly be noticed by any commerce we may have for the next twenty years at least, unless an active and unrelenting warfare is inaugurated against the influences that have robbed us of what commerce we once possessed.

Master Plumbers' Association.

The Master Plumbers have sent the following communication to the Board of Health, which has been referred to Councils:

WHEREAS, The delay in completing our work requiring inspection by the Board of Health, caused by the Board not having a sufficient number of inspectors to perform the work allotted to them, is not only an annoyance, but entails upon us considerable loss of money if the work is contract, and upon our customers if it is day's work; and,

WHEREAS, Understanding that the Board of Health, has applied to Councils for the appointment of four additional inspectors; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Master Plumbers' Association hereby respectfully ask of Councils that our customers and ourselves be relieved of the above annoyance and expense as soon as possible; and, second, that we do not consider that the four additional inspectors asked for by the Board of Health too many to properly perform the work, and hope that at least that number will be added to the present force.

A Day's Outing at Avalon.

On Wednesday last the Avalon Improvement Company with the view of properly presenting the claim of Avalon as a seaside resort to the consideration of both the press and public of this city arranged for a day's outing, with special train, special comforts and a particularly special good time for the excursionists to the number of about 300.

A noticeable feature of the excursionists was the prominence of business men accompanied by their families, many of whom desired to measure the claims of Avalon both as a place for investment and as a locality for a seashore summer home. The result of their investigation is better expressed by the statement that a number of these gentlemen selected lots and arranged for their purchase right on the ground.

Magistrate List was prominently interested in the comfort of the guests, and by personal efforts contributed greatly to the pleasures of the trip.

As to the advantages of the place, they must be seen to be realized, endowed as it is by many advantageous features, such as a vast range of unbroken beach, receding so gradually into the sea, that danger to bathers becomes a possible minimum only, besides which the sheltering shade of natural groves of cedar, holly and oak. The easy access to the best fishing in the world. Its peculiar openness to the refreshing summer winds. The vast amount of filling and grading material placed there by the bounteous hand of nature, seemingly for no other purpose than to make the work of beautifying the place a question of trifling cost and labor only, makes Avalon's claims for consideration, second to no place on the Jersey coast.
